

WEST UNIVERSITY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Scott C. Disch, Principal

Happy Sunday West U Families!

I hope this email finds you well! This past Friday, Dr. Lathan sent an email that gave an overview of the district's plan for remote learning. If you did not receive it, please follow this link.

The WUES web page for remote learning is now live and will be your main source of information. The focus for the first week is to set up structure and routines for your children and engage them in enrichment activities. We will be adding resources to our website throughout the week.

Homeroom teachers will call each family this Monday or Tuesday to check in and inquire about each family's educational needs. We realize everyone's learning environment will be different during this time, so we want to make sure we are supporting you the best we can. Teachers are coordinating this week to create lessons that will have a combination of online and offline assignments. More information will be provided as the week progresses, and grade-level lessons will be ready for the second week of distance learning.

As a school community we are in uncharted waters, but this is an opportunity to determine which digital resources may easily be integrated with our rigorous curriculum. Despite our size, WUES has a small community feel because our teachers are committed to personally knowing their students and our parents are committed to helping our students and school succeed. I have no doubt this commitment will continue and be enhanced by this unique challenge.

Distance learning will look very different from the traditional learning environment for students, teachers, and parents. As we face these new types of challenges, we will solve them together with flexibility and patience.

Thank you for your continued support!

Be well and stay healthy,

Principal Disch
