In Honor of

The Chavez-Huerta Day of Service

The Chavez-Huerta Day of Service is a day to honor the legacy of two incredible Latinos in the fight for the rights of American farm workers: César Chávez and Dolores Huerta.

Together, the two activists founded United Farm Workers of America, the largest farm worker union in the U.S. to this day.

Their fight for greater rights changed laws and improved conditions for agricultural workers.

Chavez-Huerta Day recognizes the contributions of workers and promotes service and volunteerism in communities.
