'Epitome of Spirit,' Now and Always

. . . If we work upon immortal minds and instill into them just principles, we are then engraving upon tablets which no time will efface, but will brighten and brighten to all eternity.

—DANIEL WEBSTER

None can deny that MRS. CLARA McLENDON'S dedicated spirit has not instilled just principles into the streams of students she has met since she first came to Milby 37 years ago. She has devoted her life to others—Milby students; friends of her church; children of her neighborhood. And her devotion will be reflected "to all eternity" in the memories of those whose lives she has guided on to higher goals.

As the propagator of Milby's renowned spirit, MRS. McLENDON remembers the times she went to tea at the old Milby home in Harrisburg . . . the day when Mrs. Milby dedicated the school in 1927 to her husband, Charles . . . the day W. I. Stevenson brought "Charlie Buffalo" home . . . and the day the Hammond family gave the first $4000 scholarship.

Mixed with these memories are precious years of active participation in Oaklawn Presbyterian Church, the College Women's Club, and traveler to Europe, Hawaii, the Caribbean, and Alaska. Her mark upon Milby will always be remembered, for she belongs to the generations that make HOUSTON'S PAST, PRESENT, and the FUTURE.

Foreword ...

As we, the pupils of Charles H. Milby Senior High School, study and labor to realize our goals, we are but a part of a larger world of people toiling and striving to attain their aims. These people are our families and friends: citizens of the city of Houston. This is their city and ours; it gives us opportunity, and we give it life.

Our PAST should be to each of us a cherished heritage. Those who have gone before us have laid open the pathway which we today are following. We, in our pride, feel that the growth and forward march of Houston has been reflected in the growth and forward march of our school.

The PRESENT is a kaleidoscope of hustling, bustling activities in our dynamic city that is akin to the stir and flurry of our everyday school life.

The FUTURE is represented by the culmination of dreams and plans, whether it be those of the individual or of the throng comprising the city. Whether these hopes and visions come true for our city will depend in large measure on whether we, as individuals, are able to make our desires and aspirations come true and will work together toward that goal . . . side by side.

Traditions of The Proud Past

The days just past impress us so strongly that we fancy the memories of them will never grow less dim. But as Time brings other, newer impressions, we find the old ones we fain would never lose growing dimmer and fainter and slipping out of sight forever. That these high school days and this cherished heritage may never be forgotten, here are presented in picture and word such faithful records as it is hoped will rekindle and keep forever bright these beloved memories.

Sam Houston's Namesake . . .

THE PAST IS . . .

. . . Captain John Richardson Harris, grandson of the founders of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, founding the city of Harrisburg, Texas, in 1826 . . .

. . . March 19 to April 13, 1835, when Harrisburg was the capital of Texas . . .

. . . the burning of Harrisburg by Santa Anna in 1836; and the establishment of a new town, Houston, six miles up the bayou, before Harrisburg could recover . . .

. . . the Allen brothers' real estate rocket, growing within the year from a cluster of tents to be the log-hut capital of the fledgling Republic of Texas from 1836 to 1840 . . .

. . . Broadway, the route from Houston to Galveston and LaPorte . . .

The Allen brothers' promotional zeal displays itself in this first picture of Houston sent out to entice adventurers to the cypress and cedar of the Bayou City.

Settled Down to Fulfill. A Destiny . . .

. . . Main Street innocent of paving in 1856, but wide and straight, with covered sidewalks to keep pedestrians out of the mud . . .

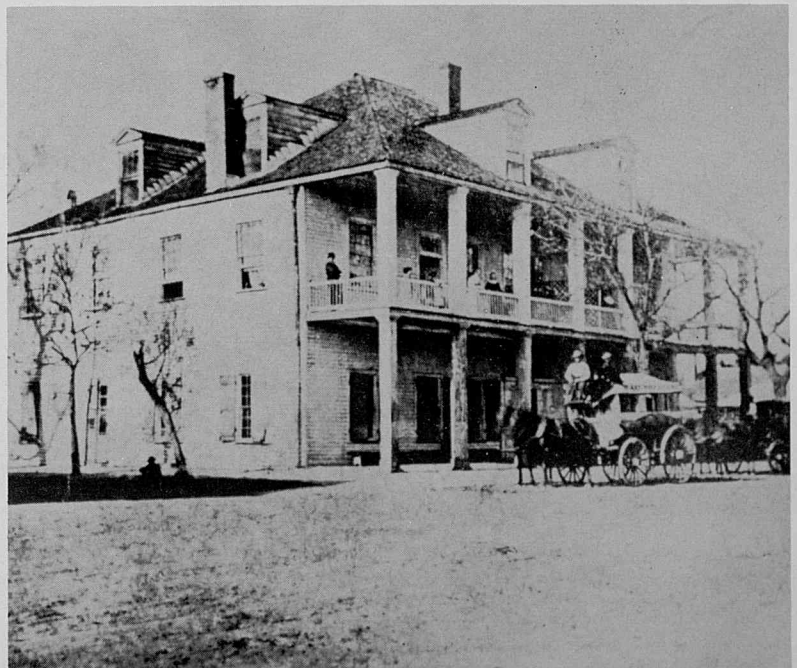

. . . stages jolting to Austin, only 36 hours and four railroads converging tracks on Houston . . .

. . . the 1876 opening of free public schools . . .

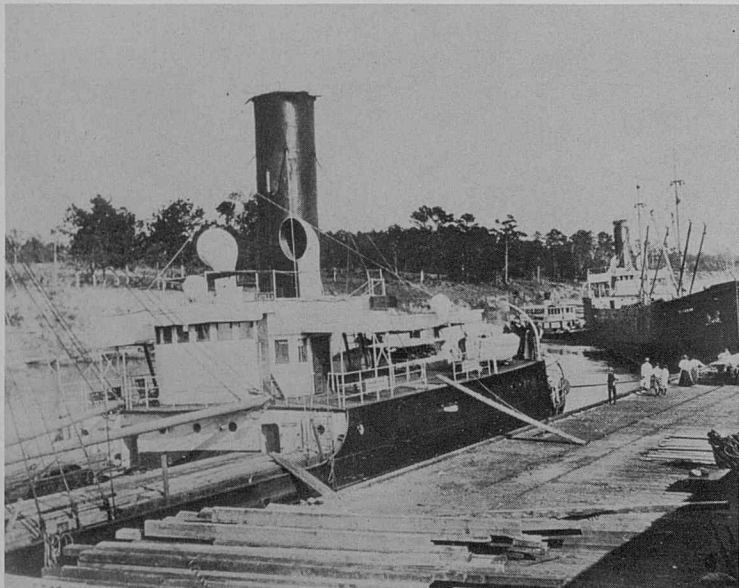

. . . Sidney Porter, later famed as O. Henry, when he was a popular columnist for the Post . . .

The first Congress of the State of Texas convened in the fall of 1836 . . . soft breezes from the prospective Chamber of Commerce promised "ample deep water to the foot of Main Street" . . . sentiment swung to Houston, and from 1836 to 1840 this building, on the present site of the Rice Hotel, housed the Capitol of Texas.

The intersection of Main and Texas, looking toward the bayou, in the 1850's. Some much needed repair in the condition of the thoroughfare seems to be in progress, and not a day too soon.

Of Firm Growth . . .

The first steamer to go up the ship channel . . . the channel which is today number two in the nation . . .

REMEMBER . . .

. . . a trolley ride from Harrisburg to Houston in 1906 for a nickle . . .

. . . a tiny dry goods store in 1908 called Foley Brothers . . .

. . . the Coca-Cola Bottling Company with horse-drawn carts to carry the cokes . . .

. . . the formal opening of the Port of Houston with a twenty-five foot channel, signalled by President Woodrow Wilson's firing of a cannon in 1916 . . . and so, the way was cleared for landlocked Houston to become an important port . . .

. . . patriotic fever on the eve of the great war . . .

. . . vaudeville, parades, recruiting, sugarless days, and lightless nights, "Making the world safe for Democracy . . ."

Houston's "magnificent" Grand Central Depot on Washington Avenue, in the era of railroad building, expansion, and development, made it evident that Texas's commerce would eventually move on rails rather than over plank roads.

And Sound Prosperity . . .

HOUSTON . . .

. . . gay again in 1926, sparked by a happy generation of flappers and jelly beans who did not know that they were "lost" . . .

the PORT listed among the top eleven in the country . . .

. . . KPRC (Cotton Port-Rail Center) was the city's lone radio station . . .

. . . natural gas was distributed for the first time . . .

HARRISBURG . . .

. . . Mayor James S. Deady presided over the last official acts of the little town, just 100 years after Captain Harris had built his home . . . Harrisburg, along with Memorial Park, River Oaks, and Cottage Grove, was annexed to the city of Houston in 1926, to swell its area to 70 square miles . . .

Evidence of the Dare to Dream And the Will to Do . . .

"To link the new with the old . . . to join hands from our glorious new Milby High with those other, our supporting schools . . . to convert the walls and halls of this new building from mere steel and stone to a sentimental, intrinsic part of student life . . ." With these words, the farsighted students of Milby in 1926 dedicated their BUFFALO.

The city of HOUSTON and the township of HARRISBURG, once separate, joined together to grow into the pulsating metropolis that is Houston today . . . and in March, 1926 . . . A great citizen of Harrisburg had died, the man who had given the land for the first school in the town . . . and the people of Harrisburg, in his honor, petitioned to have the new school named for him . . . and so it was . . .

CHARLES H. MILBY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The past is a hand turning the leaves of a yearbook of 1926 . . .

IN HOUSTON, TEXAS

A TRADITION OF SPIRIT . . .

Throughout the years, Milby students have proven an asset to Houston . . .

. . . "Onward Milby," our first official song, was written by a student in 1934, and is still sung with as much spirit

. . . of the original thirteen faculty members, five are still here . . .

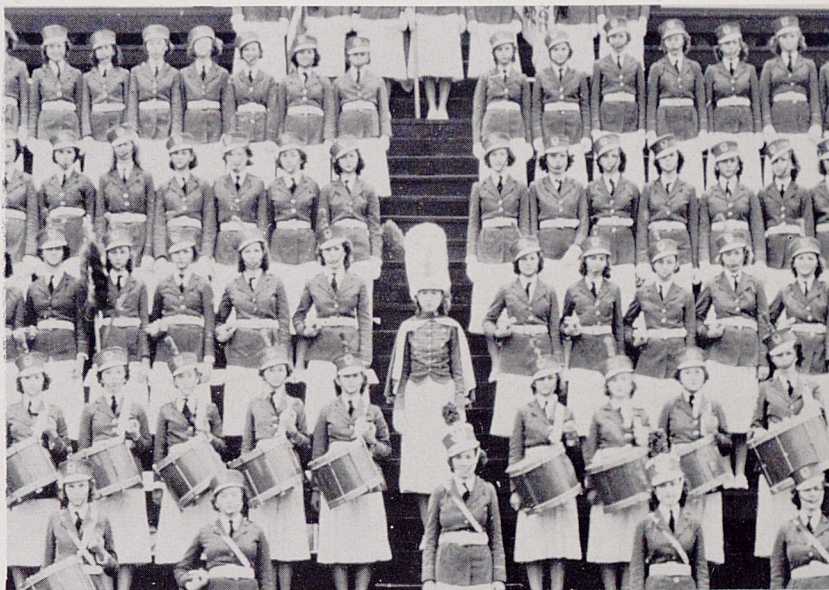

. . . Mrs. Clara McLendon organized the first Milby club, the Girls' Reserves . . . beginning a long line of clubs in the Milby tradition . . .

. . . additions were made to the building as we grew . . . we acquired an invaluable boys' gym, a cafeteria, and extra rooms . . .

. . . Mrs. Fannie Davis, first sponsor of the Coeds, and W. I. Stevenson brought back "Charlie" Buffalo from Colorado . . .

. . . campus life, once similar to a large club, has now expanded much, to offer wider curriculum, but never again will we see the "Good Old Days," when magnolia trees and Spanish moss graced the sleepy bayou . . .

. . . And it is somehow fitting that the founders of Houston, the Allen brothers, and our school's namesake, Charles H. Milby, now lay side by side in their final rest in Glendale Cemetery.

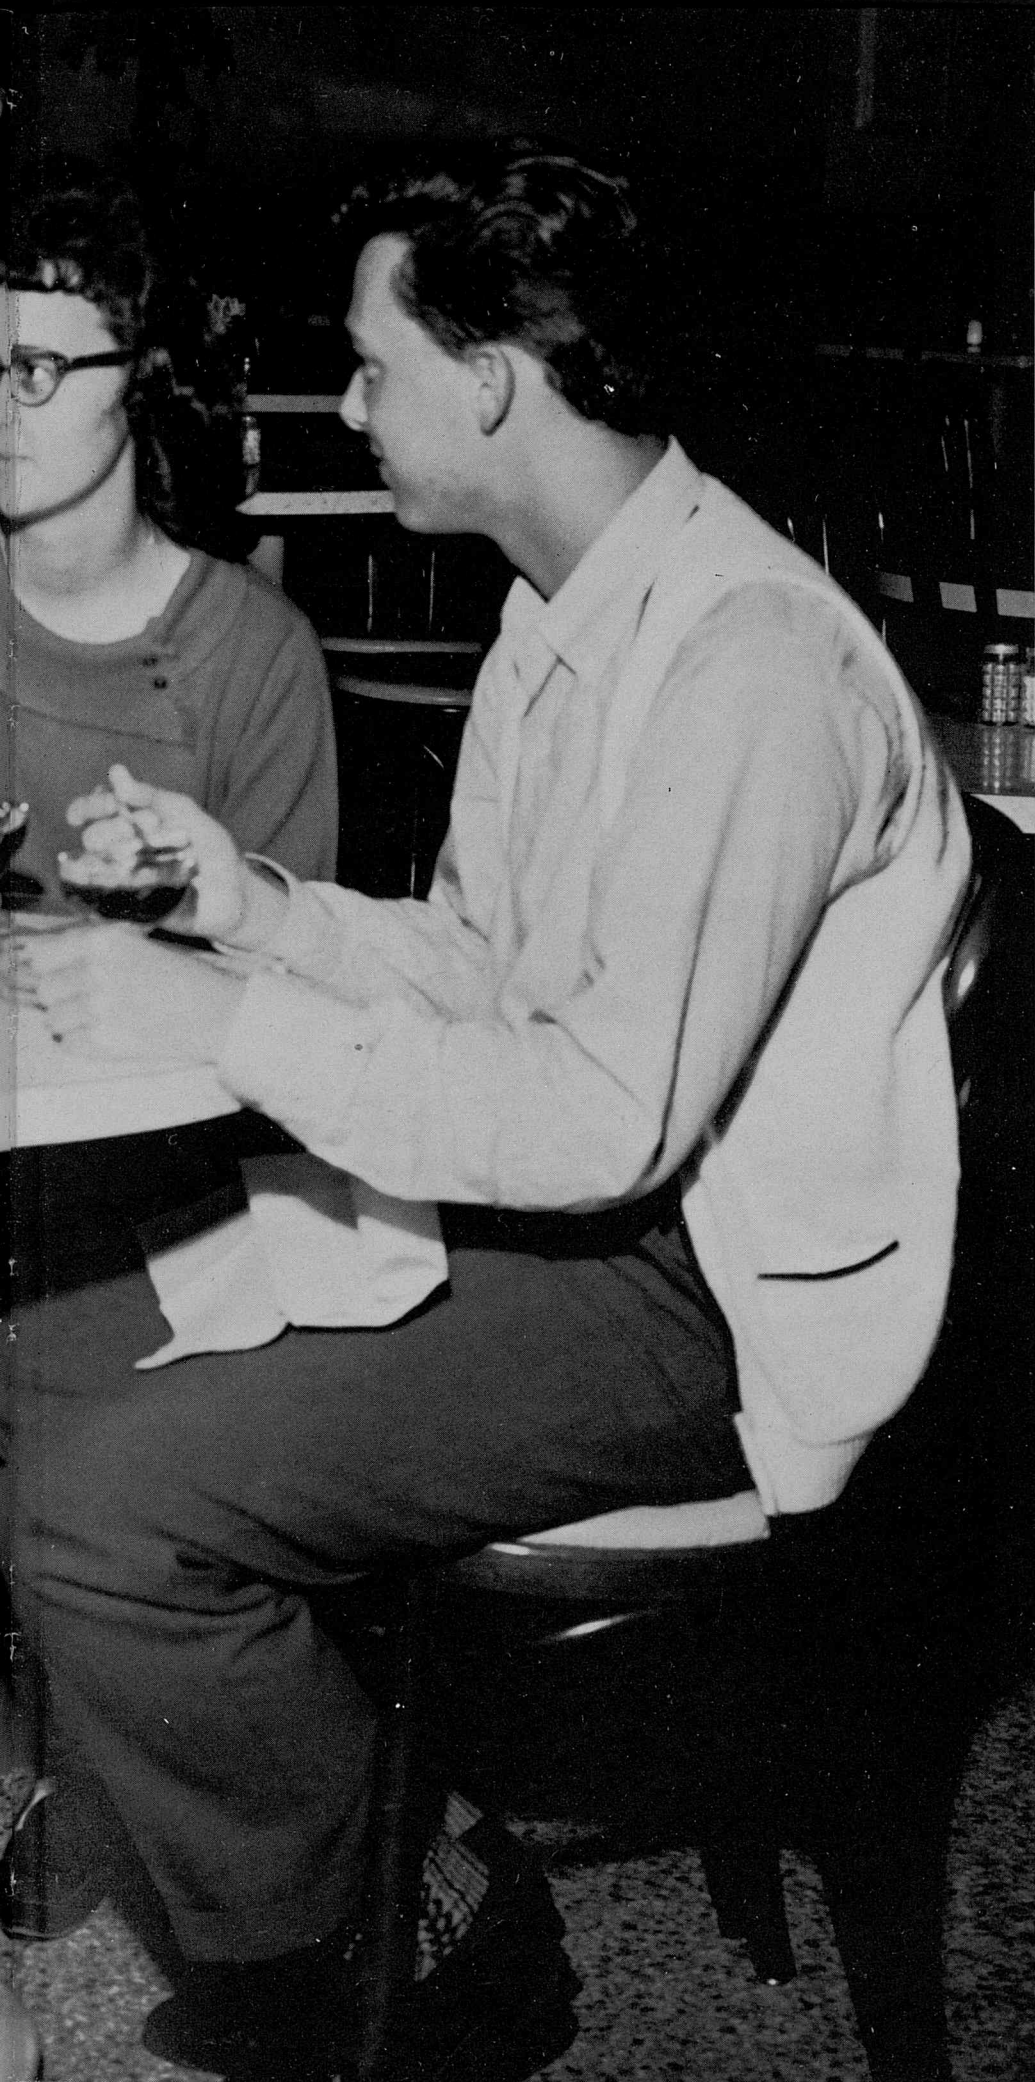

Who are these young ladies? The Coed Cadettes, circa 1938.

ACTIVITIES

Orientation Enlightens . . .

A trend which is becoming an annual tradition inaugurates the fourth consecutive year of the sophomore orientation presented by the Student Council.

Speeches from club representatives of the various organizations and from the administration highlighted the assembly.

Refreshments furnished by the P.T.A. and club exhibits followed the assembly. Here, the new students familiarized themselves with the clubs, learning the requirements for membership.

Marion Cline eliminates sophomore competition.

The "top five" and Cumby Coed will tell you, "Sure our knees get cold."

Mrs. Dorothy Menutis from Balfour Company distributes rings.

"Won't the line ever end?"

Some guys and gals exchange their rings the same day.

Rings Excite . . .

After two years of laborious work and keen anticipation, the day arrives when the June 1962 graduates receive their senior rings.

Even though Milbyites have seen the gold band and the blue stone with the Milby mascot atop, they still exclaim that no rings can emulate theirs.

Underclassmen look forward to the day when they will receive their rings, too.

While Students Compete

The parent Booster Club staged a talent show which included Buff talent from the Harrisburg school.

Besides entertaining, the students competed for prizes during the evening. The top prizes went to Connie Cooper, the Roulettes, and the "Girl's Chorus Line."

This year's beauty contest consisted of four judgments in which the girls wore different attires. They wore black skirts and white blouses for the first judging, sports clothes for the second, suits for the third, and formals for the final judging.

The boys had two judgments in which they wore casual clothes and suits and went individually before a panel of five judges.

Clowns, squeals of glee, and gruff laughter accented the 1961 Allied Youth Carnival.

On November 25 the Milby high school auditorium darkened and the eleventh annual Kaleidoscope, an all-city variety show, was unveiled.

The Storybook Stars revealed this year's theme as Storybook Land by portraying different characters from Mother Goose. The colors of pink and silver were carried throughout the show.

A $15 prize, a $10 prize, and a $5 prize was awarded to the top three acts. Only students from schools other than Milby were eligible for the prizes.

Money received from ticket sells went to help cover the expenses of printing the school paper.

The audience awaits expectantly the rise of the curtain.

Three years . . . each accomplishing a different purpose for different people. A time for growth, mentally and physically . . . finding a place under the sun in the distant horizon. Each event contributes to a rapid rising action leading to the final climax of graduation. It all occurs but few realize it. Few can unify these events and few can gauge their importance until the final denouement. Every hurt, every advancement, every disappointment, marks a life. Each of these adds to growth. Graduation days come and go . . . yet, none is so different, so exciting, so emotional, as our own. It is an accumulation of all the products of education and activity. It is a magical time, for we realize that as one goal is reached, many pebbles, stones, and boulders are yet to be uncovered. We walk the path of promise, for the world belongs to the youth. This is our GRADUATION DAY.

Leave Milby Life

You've Got Nothing to Hit . . . but the Heights!

Entertainers everywhere have in common warmth, esprit de corps, and a true love for their work. These things are present even in high school dramatics. Universally, as the grease paint is applied, the spirit of the theatre is generated . . .

"A little more shadow on the lips . . ." "Another line around the eyes . . ." Last-minute touch-ups on fingernails . . . "Don't forget to Hang Up Your Costume!"

Drama not only offers the student an opportunity for voice training and character study, but also teaches a valuable lesson for life . . . the desire to do one's best for the sake of the group. Drama is a picture of life. And a good slogan for life is this line from a Broadway play, "You've got nothing to hit but the heights."

"Oh, you doll . . ."

Biology proves to be an interesting subject to parents.

Confusion is predominant in the halls as parents have five minutes to rush to class.

Bedlam, Bells Bother Parents

Mrs. Clyde Perkins explains the intricacies of geometry to a class of mothers and fathers.

No, these students are not the usual Milbyites. They might be Buffs at heart, but they are just tired parents who have come to see how their "prodigies" are progressing under the auspices of equally tired teachers.

"Maybe now they'll believe me when I tell them how hard the chairs are."

"Take my flour and leave," screams Carole Koonce to the villain, Sandra Julian, in the Coed Act.

The lights dim . . . the curtain goes up . . . and the Silver Anniversary of the Valentine Varieties begins.

Who can say that a climax of season spirit has been reached? Perhaps it is when an air of gaiety and friendship prevails . . . when strangers can feel the same emotions together. But when it is reached, we all know and realize the inner beings of a society. This apex of feeling . . . creates a light-heartedness of a minute, an hour, a day for future memories. Singing permeates an otherwise dull, shuffling hall . . . laughter replaces the complaints of everyday trivialities. The spirit of this season . . . St. Valentines . . . is recreated, then becomes a vignette of life pictures until the next season or the next year.

Recruiting them young this year, the Coeds obviously believe that practice makes perfect.

Personalities emerge at the Milby vs Jeff Davis conflict.

One Door,

A dream . . . a goal . . . one and the same . . . both conquerable by the diligent student. Something seeming eternally distant, away from the everyday decorum . . . always seeming like a misty mirage. Yet, finally the mirage becomes real and we find ourselves on the other side of the threshold. All the mishaps and disappointments in the past seem trite for suddenly we are all as one with a common bond . . . Seniors, 1962. Thus we have opened one more door, crossed one more bridge, climbed one more mountain. From our new stance, we see a future that is what we make of it. It is ours to seek out the path of success and happiness, realizing that new heights are still to be reached that can determine even more of our future.

It was they who prepared and served the food at the Sophomore Orientation, sponsored the Faculty Christmas Party, and served at the Dean's Farewell Party. The Board of Education of Houston is composed of seven members who are elected at large by the citizens of the District. The Board holds regular meetings on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month. The chief function of the Board is to provide for the progress and welfare of all of the schools within its jurisdiction and to study the policies which govern the operation of the schools.

SCHOOL BOARD

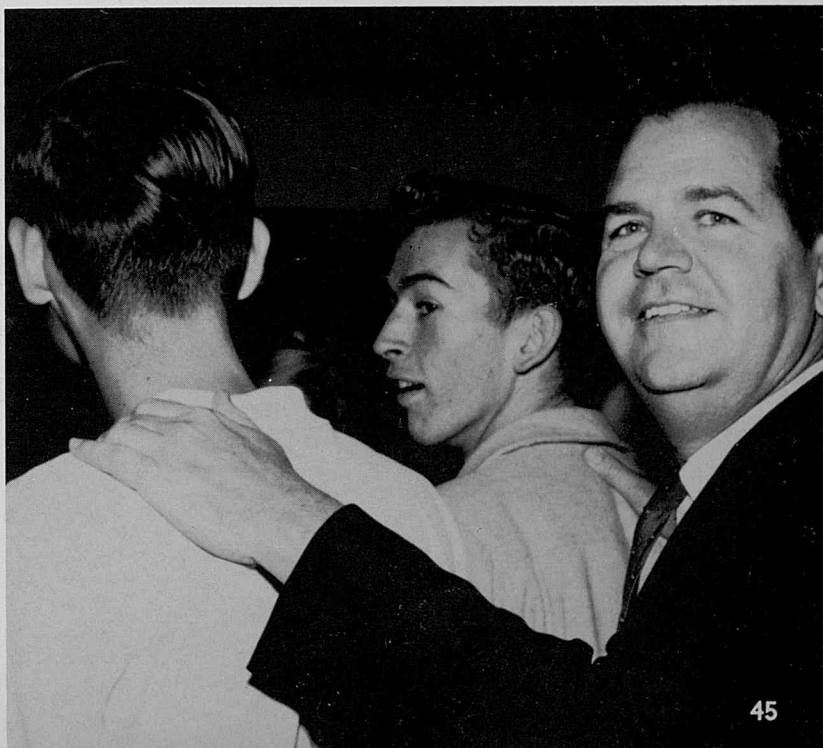

THEY PLANT THE FOUNDATION

MR. HENRY CLAY SMITH, assistant principal, gave guidance to many students at Milby in order to prepare them for their future years.

Future goals can only be reached when the person has laid a foundation for his dreams to be planted firmly upon. As the years move forward and those who are the students of this school become the leaders of this country, they will always look back and remember that their foundation was not built on pure dreams, but rather on the guidance of the administration and faculty of Milby High School.

"Buy your Milby football tickets here," says MR. ROSCOE BAYLESS, principal of Milby High School. As if the academic procedures were not enough responsibilities, Mr. Bayless also made extracurricular activities an important part of Milby.

FOR OUR FUTURE

As secretary of Milby High School, MRS. EVELYN EVANS completed her duties with an unmatched perfection.

Always dependable . . . always courteous . . . MRS. CLARA McLENDON's great services for Milby will be remembered by all.

THROUGH CONSTANT GUIDANCE

MRS. EDITH PELL, attendance clerk, finished her tasks with a quiet grace and a willing manner.

MRS. WYNELL ANDERSON aided both teachers and students with stenciling assignments.

MRS. SARA GAMMAGE's work ranged from cashing checks to selling football tickets. Her proficiency kept all accounts in good order.

AND UNDERSTANDING

As counselor, MRS. JANIE PATTERSON patiently advises students with their varied problems.

MRS. GLADYS PRICE, counselor, willingly directs students in their field of study during their three years at Milby.

THEY ENCOURAGE HEALTH THROUGH CLEANLINESS

Preparing each day's menu in order to provide a tasty appeal is the job of MRS. LILLIE MAE GILMORE, lunch room manager.

Improving health habits is the job of our capable nurse, MRS. MARY JO HULSEY.

MR. CARTER SYLVESTINE, custodian, is in charge of keeping Milby a pleasant place to see.

PARENTS BOOST BUFFS

The Parent's Booster Club works throughout the year to support the school activities of Milby. The Booster Club supports all school activities of Milby High School. Its financial aid is obtained through memberships, donations from merchants, and fund raising campaigns. The meetings are held on the first Monday of each month from September through May.

The Milby P-TA has stressed a closer relationship between parents and teachers. A number of the members performed various tasks at the P-TA State Convention held in Houston. Workers were furnished for the TB Mobile Unit and also the hearing tests. Milby P-TA cooperated with other schools in the community in the used clothing drive. Librarians Aid Students

MRS. REBA GIBBS

The road to higher education is not an easy one; the reward of life can not be obtained unless each person gives his share of assistance in some way or another.

The librarians have certainly helped students to broaden their education. Mrs. Reba Gibbs and Mrs. Ruth Fitzgerald are always willing to help students find books or other information. They are definitely a part of the student's pathway to success.

'All the News That's Fit to Print'

Behind the walls of clicking typewriters and deafening laughter the staff planned and plotted the voice of Milby students . . . the PLAINSMAN . . . in a new and bigger seven column scale.

Trips to the printer relieving staffers from school, copy to write, read, and fit on a page, deadlines to meet and headlines to write revealed the duties of editors and staffers alike.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

The government of Milby rests in the hands of the Student Council, an organization consisting of one representative of each homeroom. Officers are elected by the student body and must have a "B" average with good conduct grades.

The Council provides a medium of cooperation between the faculty and the students. Students are given a chance to participate in student government and to represent Milby in many activities.

An orientation program for sophomores is one of the first Student Council sponsored activities of the school year. The assembly gives the new students an opportunity to become acquainted with the advantages and requirements of the other organizations. The Council is the regulation board for the clubs.

Members of the Council have an opportunity to work with groups from other schools of similar size, to grow in knowledge and organizational ability, and be of further service to the school.

October 21 was designated as the day for the return of Milby's ex-graduates. This was their day of honor to rekindle friendships and to recall the many memories of their high school days at Milby.

Upon entrance the ex-graduates received welcome tags and were presented with Homecoming programs and a copy of the school newspaper. Pep rallies, reunion, and refreshments constituted the activities for the remainder of the day.

NFL Named Leading Chapter

The ability to speak well is a major asset which will do much to influence a person's position throughout his life. The National Forensic League, co-sponsored by Mr. William D. Atkinson and Mr. Richard M. Niemi, recognizes and promotes this trait in its members. Local and state speech tournaments are held annually to encourage the development of argumentative abilities and speaking potentialities. Milby's NFL sponsors such a tournament each year for junior highs.

This year the Milby NFL attained the distinction of being named Leading Chapter of the South Texas District. The award, one of 25 to be presented nationally, is given to the school compiling the highest number of degrees in each respective district. Points are given for winning or placing in an event at a speech tournament. The number of degrees a chapter receives are based on the number of points awarded.

Milby's chapter finished second in 1961, but now holds a total of 458 degrees, and leads the South Texas District.

Debate is part of our everyday lives as long as we live in a free society. It is one of the essential processes in the social and political structure which we call democracy. A democratic society is dedicated to the proposition that its members are capable of self-government. In the process of democratic decision-making, debate performs an invaluable function. Possibly no other form of public discourse serves so well to focus attention on fundamental issues. The real value of debate training, if seriously studied and honestly applied, is promotion of good citizenship.

The debate premise for 1961-62 was "Resolved: that the Federal Government should equalize educational opportunities by means of grants to the states for public elementary and secondary schools." Milby debaters studied the pros and cons of the question during and after school, and represented Milby at Interscholastic speech tournaments throughout the year.

Plotting to conquer the world? Here, in the debate room, reason is strained and strategy planned to develop fully the pros and cons of an issue.

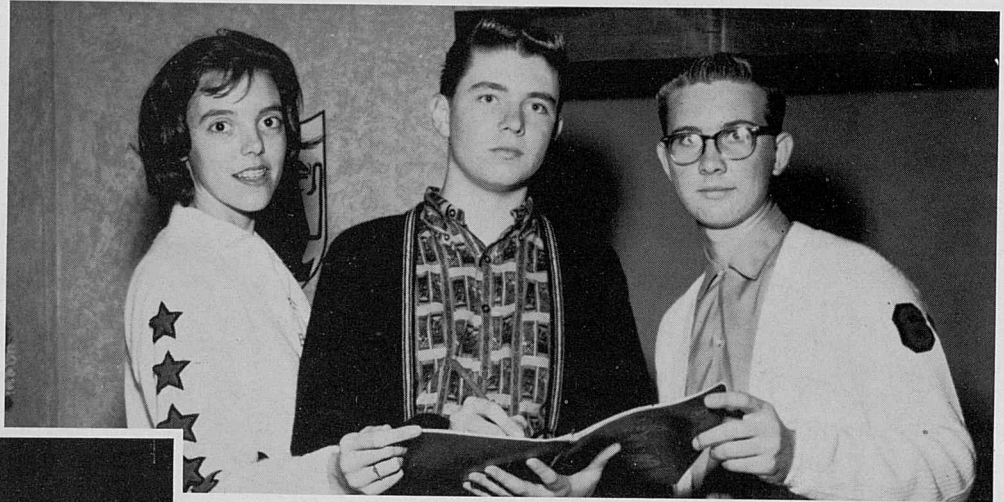

Brief cases, file cards, and suits signify a trip to a speech tournament.

The Stage Is Set . . .

Large contributors to the success of the show . . . Floralea Willis, wardrobe mistress, Terry Peterson, stage manager, and Wayne Pitts, technician.

"... this is the cue for the props to be changed," says Jack Brasher to Jerry Sockwell.

The Circle . . . "right over left" . . . "We have a nice crowd tonight" . . . "say a brief prayer for the success of the show" . . .

During the last school term (1960-61), the stage was set; this year, the show goes on.

With the creation of the new Blackfriar Theatre under the leadership of Mr. Richard M. Niemi and with the help of his Blackfriars and Thespians, the Department of Drama now stages its productions in a unique, professionally-constructed, eighty-eight seat playhouse—the only one of its kind in Houston.

Decorated in black with dramatic highlights for special effect, the "legitimate" theatre has become familiar to Milbyites as the place where "Broadway is brought to the Campus."

The Show Goes On . . .

Martha Bloomstrom operates sound and Frances Peterson controls lights in "Blithe Spirit."

Refreshments served at intermission are made more inviting when served by Jackie High and Sharon Sellen.

Opening night is here . . .

The magic of the theatre is here . . .

The set is ready, lights are adjusted, sound effects in order . . .

Props are arranged for immediate use . . .

Excitement permeates the hustle and bustle of the dressing room . . .

Caught in a familiar pose, Floralea Willis as Wardrobe Mistress displays the friendliness which made her Drama Sweetheart for 1961-62.

Grease paint, powder, and pins change hands . . .

Fellowship achieved by working together is obvious as we pray together for a successful show . . .

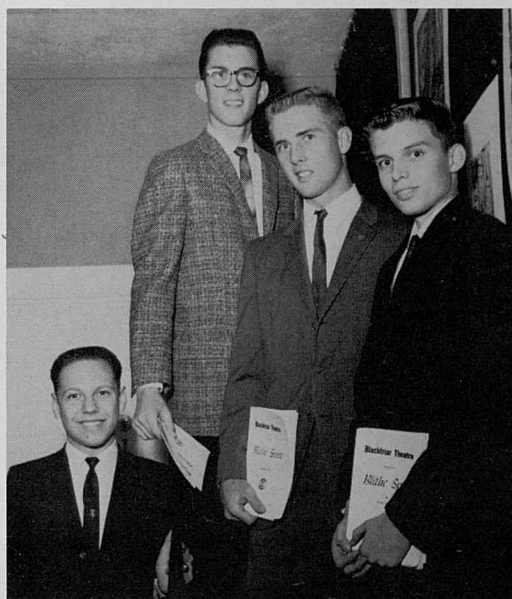

House lights darken, a moment of hesitation, then . . .

The luminous glow of the stage lights transforms the world of reality . . .

And weeks of work are well worth it, as . . .

The show goes on!

Ken Hoppens, Billy LaCoste, Wilson Porter, and Gary Clevenger usher for "Blithe Spirit."

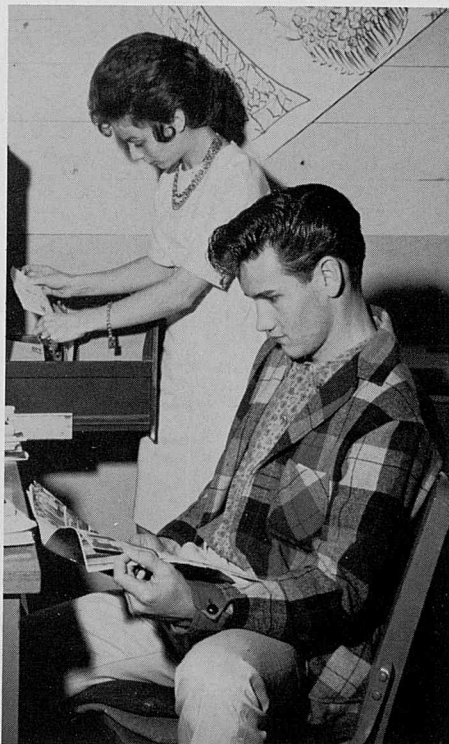

DRAMA

A wild frenzy climaxes as the bewitched Marion Cline and Sara Manley plan their supernatural trip to Barbados.

Jerre Golasinski and Robert Hamilton check files of past dramatic presentations.

RICHARD M. NIEMI
Director

This is the man about whom the art of the theatre revolves . . . His endless enthusiasm and drive toward the top have lead us onward and encouraged us . . .

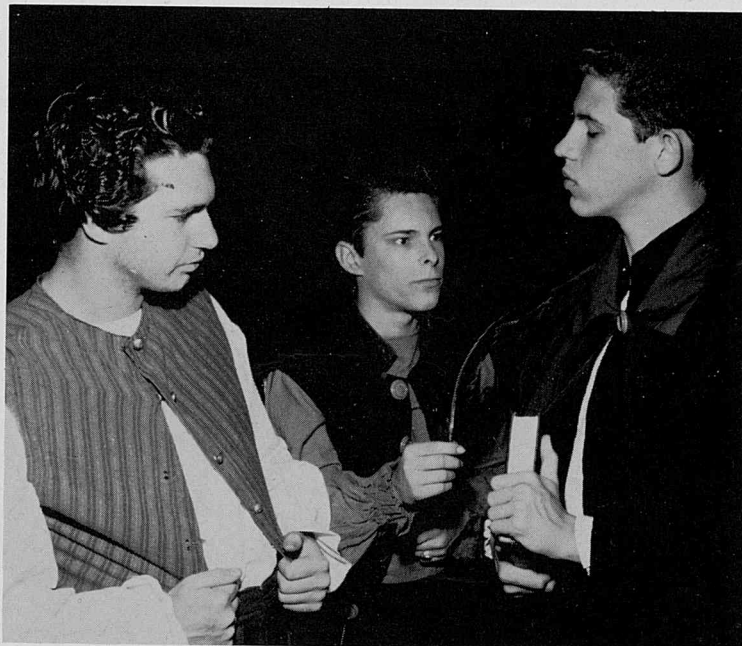

His far-reaching talent and skill have made us what we are today . . .

He is an artist and none who have met him can help being enriched by the experience . . .

Three Salem girls, Barbara Hayman, Sharon Levine, and Cheryl Cruse prepare to cry out the evil ones in "The Crucible."

The court and jail officials, David Seymour, Noel Deisch, and Barry Harrell, plan strategy for the death of the guilty.

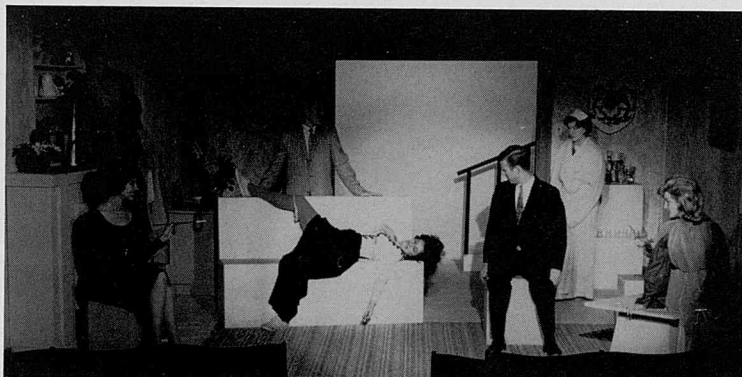

Blithe Spirit' Returns to Theatre

Jeanné Dupré, as Madame Arcati, can feel the vibrations as she tries to make contact with the "other world."

"I think I'd better talk to you about your husband," suggests Dr. Bradman, portrayed by Paul Reiman.

Madame Arcati tries another trance in an effort to send the spirits back.

Blithé Spirit," an improbable farce in three acts, was presented as the opening show of the year in the Blackfriar Theatre. It related the hilarious situation which resulted when a spirit returned from the unknown realm to harass her former husband.

Madame Arcati inquires whether the maid, played by Jean Starns, has ever seen such a long, long finger.

Spirit Swings From Mancini to Cahn

Jim Tucker boosts spirit as he conducts the Pep Band during a pep rally.

The band within the Milby Buff Band, or the Pep Band, is led by Jim Tucker. He is responsible for playing music throughout the football games, assembly programs, pep rallies, and basketball games.

The group plays popular and jazz pieces which include "Peter Gunn," "Riff Interlude," and "Mississippi Mud." Their uniforms are blue slacks and bright gold shirts with Pep Band in blue lettering. The band is strictly all boys, but membership is offered to any boy in the Buff Band.

PEP BAND

Out in front of the Buff Band are the Milby Majorettes. This year all the Majorettes attended advanced classes at Sam Houston State Twirling School.

Candidates for Majorette perform before the band and are selected according to their twirling ability. The Head Majorette is selected in the same way but her experience and twirling skills must be more advanced.

Majorettes plan new routines for each game performance. They are right in step with the band as they lead them in other school functions and parades. The twirlers are always ready to combine with the band in boosting school spirit.

Sandra Blaylock, Myrlin Byrd, Sherry Bradley, Joanna Snow, and Barbara Scogin are not waving—they're doing the hand motions of a favorite Buff song.

Young Musicians Participate in School, City-wide Activities

The Milby Buff Band stands in marching formation led by Band Major Louis Young.

"Fair Milby," our own school song, written by band director, E. L. Seastrand, may be heard from the first football game through graduation night, played by a group of young musicians who make up the Milby Buff Band.

This group participates in most Houston parades, sponsors the popular talent show, Valentine Varieties, attends a contest or clinic where they perform individually and in groups for critical analysis, and each spring gives a concert for the school and its patrons.

Jim Tucker directs the Buff Band in one of their routines.

The clarinet section adds melody to the band.

Since 1952 the Christian Student Union has attempted to bring a warm atmosphere of religious activity to the Milby campus. No matter what the denomination, students may find the weekly Tuesday morning meetings to be the place to help strengthen their beliefs and present a richer, deeper meaning to school activities.

A typical meeting entails sing-spiration, prayer, and devotionals by the student body, the faculty, or an outside source. Dr. W. G. Tanner, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church; Mr. Don Kenyon from Youth For Christ; and Mrs. Clara McLendon have spoken at the meetings this year.

CSU provides an opportunity for students to form lasting Christian friendships. The club seeks to inspire its members to be good examples to the rest of the student body and to live the lives which good Christians should.

Allied Youth members are thousands of young people all over the United States and Canada who seek the truth concerning alcoholic beverages, the problems which arise from their use in our society, and the value of total abstinence. The only membership requirement is to be interested sincerely in Allied Youth's purpose.

Speakers from all walks of life address the meetings and answer questions. Free educational films and articles in the monthly magazine, THE ALLIED YOUTH, provide additional information on alcoholism and its prevention and cure.

Through AY Milby students see solutions for many problems young people face, because they believe that the emotionally stable, self-confident person is less likely to lean on the false crutch of alcohol.

The purposes may sound square, but they aren't. Milby members have many parties, socials, picnics, and the AY Carnival to prove again and again that young people can have more fun without drinking.

Members work together locally through Allied Youth Posts. Milby's AY is one of the largest and most active AY groups in Houston, consisting of 265 members, producing National and International Presidents throughout the years.

Serving the Community, the World

The primary purpose of the Jr. Red Cross is to promote understanding among the young people of the world by helping the ill and less fortunate.

By assisting in children's hospitals and visiting old people in homes for the aged, the Jr. Red Cross serves the community.

Activities in '62 included decorations for special parties and Easter Baskets for underprivileged children. During the year a book of Our School was prepared to send to some country who would like a better understanding of schools in the USA in hopes that understanding will promote world peace.

GBC Exhibits Scholarship, Honor, Spirit

The Girl's Booster Club is often considered in both spirit and service categories, according to the club classification at Milby. Its main objective is to promote school spirit in all Milby activities.

Although this club is an extracurricular organization, membership in the club is partly determined by scholastic rating. The club consisted of 72 girls and six officers.

The Bisonette's, as the members are commonly known, activities vary with the need of the school. During the summer of '61, they took over the care of Milby's campus, edging around the sidewalk, raking and cleaning the lawn, planting grass, and watering plants. The GBC's have a permanent job cleaning the trophies in the halls.

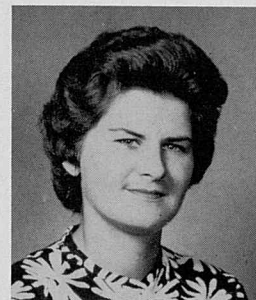

The Bisonettes, started in 1953, sponsored an old-fashioned ice cream parlor at the '61 AY Carnival. The girls selling the ice cream were dressed appropriately in long skirts and high-necked blouses. Candy jars and lanterns added to the decor.

Girls competing for admission in the club, Charlies, are selected on merits, sponsor approval, and the vote of members. Merits are earned by attendance at unrequired activities.

Each year the group sponsors the Winter Whirl and the Basketball banquet for the Basketball Team.

Club Promotes Patriotic Spirit

The purposes of Milby's Freedom Fighters are to "increase our knowledge of any form of government that is a threat to the Constitution of the United States," and "to help combat these governments from furthering their beliefs upon all freedom loving people." Films, speakers, and approved literature stimulate these interests for true understanding of the club.

The Freedom Fighters were organized to promote a more patriotic spirit throughout the student body in a non-political organization. Furnishing American flags for every room was its major task.

Cheerleaders

Selecting SMU as their training grounds, the cheerleaders again outyelled the best and brought home another first place for Milby. Yet the practice, tumbling, competition, and the new yells were merely a beginning of their future activities of the next year. The new cheers and routines were accepted with great enthusiasm by the cheering sections. The cheerleaders also planned and presented several types of pep rallies including special guests such as Dr. John McFarland and neighboring high school cheerleaders. Along with these, faculty members and students performed to create a variety of interest. Staunch supporters and willing workers are the Milby cheerleaders.

"If ya wanna win" rings out a plea to the Buff team in the final minutes of the Waltrip game.

Milby Coeds Sparkle With Fastest Cadence

Carole Koonce, Major

Promoting scholarship and interest in school activities and fostering good fellowship are the purposes of the Milby Coed Cadettes.

Each summer the Coeds begin their new year with summer practice. During this time new members are taught to march, play, and twirl. All of this leads up to the most important and colorful activity of the Coeds . . . drilling.

However, the Coeds also sponsor a magazine drive, compile the HERD and co-sponsor the Herd Hoedown. Cadettes usher at the Ice Capades, rodeo, and other performances. The Coeds participate in the Poppy sale and sell pencils, ribbons, decals, and stationery. Coeds boost all sports which include football, basketball, baseball, and track. In the spring the Coeds march in the Shrine Ball, and announce the officers for the following year.

ROTC Marches On . . .

Alert, intelligent, and friendly FRANK LOPEZ served in top rank position as Battle Group Commander this year. Conducting his duties with experienced capability, Frank was an inspiration to his co-workers.

Blond and vivacious PEGGY BURNS marched as Frank's sponsor. With natural good humor, Peggy added a sparkling gaiety to all factors of ROTC life.

To lay the foundation for intelligent citizenship and to give basic military training are the general objectives of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Cadets and sponsors spend time in classes, on the drill field, and in the firing range.

Each year, however, the group leaves behind the "grind" of daily work for social activities such as the annual ROTC Military Ball. They also have picnics, hayrides, and parties.

The group along with other armed forces in Houston participates in the Veteran's Day Parade and has capped top honors for several years.

Milby's ROTC rifle and drill teams take pride in their previous records and awards. Each year the teams go to Arlington State and Sam Houston State College for rifle and drill competitions.

The quality of leadership which the ROTC program seeks to develop and foster will have application in all walks of life and the graduate of ROTC will not only be a leader in war, but also a leader in peace.

A mischievous smile and a pleasant personality typifies TOMMY WILSON, Battle Group Executive. His winning ways have produced many friends among the ROTC.

Sincerity blended with an atmosphere of fresh beauty and pleasing laughter portrays CONNIE COOPER, sponsor to the Battle Group Executive.

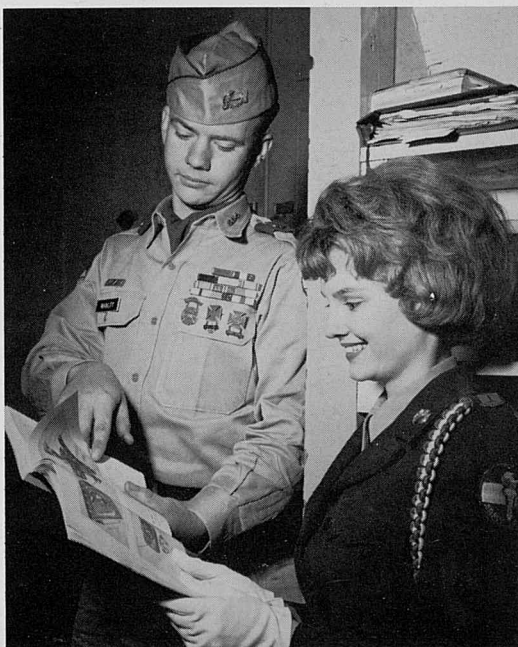

. . . to Leadership

SERGEANT RUDOLPH GARCIA and MASTER SERGEANT HENRY IDEKER form an effective combination of military discipline, efficiency, and courtesy. Their able ability and talents encouraged those engaged in the activities of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Conscientiously executing his duties CHARLES DONAHO has helped to maintain order and a serious spirit of accomplishment in the ROTC program. FRANCES PETERSON'S sympathetic understanding of people and the desire to help have made her a valuable addition to the Milby ROTC Battle Group.

Explaining some of the developments in the modern Army, AMOS MANLEY, displays the experience that resulted in his appointment as Deputy Battle Group Commander. SHARON WOOLFORD, a smiling example of graciousness, listens attentively.

A dependable organizer with a droll sense of humor, Staff-3 officer, RANDALL PRETZER, is also an officer of unusual stamina and vigor. A pleasing combination of sweetness and helpfulness, brown-eyed JUDY HYZER was sponsor to Staff-3.

Tense with the excitement and anticipation of the kickoff, these ROTC officers join hands.

A jocular, but indefatigable worker, JAN MEYERS, has earned the admiration of the Milby Battle Group. An enthusiastic sponsor of A Company, SYLVIA YBARRA, evinces genuine good will and charm for the entire ROTC.

B COMPANY: R. Munoz, First Lieutenant, J. Jenkins, R. Hyde; ROW 1: J. Amorose, D. Miller, B. Hyde, M. Rodriguez; ROW 2: W. Courrages, N. Martin, P. Self, J. Clausen, M. Hall; ROW 3: J. Heckman, S. Aignes, S. Walker, G. Kring, D. Kenne; ROW 4: D. Connor, G. Nickersen, M. Lucas; ROW 5: J. Scott.

With the firm conviction that patience and an agreeable disposition are conducive to company cooperation, RICHARD MUNOZ, has preserved an atmosphere of mutual respect in B Company. JUDY JENKINS, a cheerful sponsor with an optimistic outlook, has aspired also to maintain this atmosphere.

BILLY SMITH'S awareness of C Company's importance is responsible for his serious attitude and loyalty. Seldom without her charming smile and good judgement, LINDA PITTS has proved that women are important in the modern Army.

Mentally alert and physically disciplined for the demands of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, DOYLE PRUETT is captain of the year old D Company.

C COMPANY: B. Smith, First Lieutenant; ROW 1: A. Erxleben, T. McMickle, R. Baggett, R. Crabtree; ROW 2: R. Abbott, J. Coleman, R. Cone, D. Velasco; ROW 3: V. Bell, L. Buchanan, J. Lambert.

Inspiring Loyalty and Sportsmanship

The Ragnots is a booster club for boys meeting every Wednesday morning in the auditorium. The club was organized to promote student interest and boost all sports in which Milby students participate.

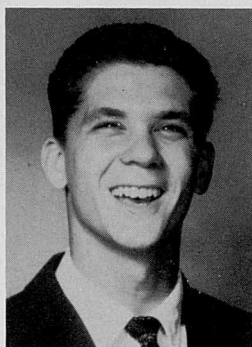

The boys must maintain at least a C scholastic average and a G in conduct. The ninety-six members must attend all sports events and pep rallies held and sponsored by Milby. They select the Back and Lineman of the Year. They often manage a booth in the Allied Youth Carnival and sponsor a yearly hayride.

*Today we reach the crest of one field . . .

The incentive to achieve success is provided in rewards, given to those whose initiative or whose natural abilities render them outstanding.

And so, Milby's Favorites for 1962 are chosen, by faculty committee, student elections, or judges. The city of Houston is the background for the pictures, as it will soon be the new horizon to challenge these young people.

Each year a faculty committee selects one senior boy and one senior girl on the basis of scholarship, honor, leadership, service, and citizenship as Best Citizens. Sponsored by the National Honor Society, this award was received by BARRY HARRELL and BARBARA JEAN McWILLIAMS for their endeavors on behalf of Milby.

For her scholarship and citizenship, DIANA HASKINSON was chosen for the DAR Citizenship Award by the Dean and the head of each department. This award is presented to a deserving senior girl in the fall and is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

HONOREES

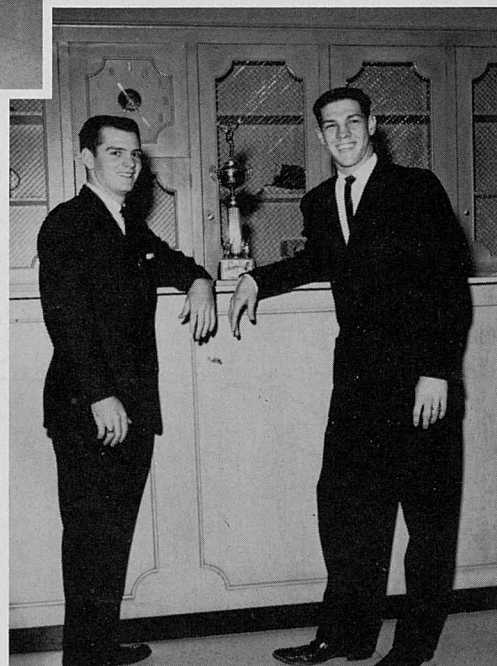

In the late spring, a junior boy and a junior girl are selected by the faculty to represent Milby in Austin, at the student government sessions of Boys' and Girls' State. Here, the students are educated to the functions of State government. Selected for their leadership capacities, TERRY PETERSON and DONNA REEDER served as Milby's delegates.

BENNETT CLARK, center, captured the title of Posture Queen along with third place winner, MARY LOU STEVENS and second place winner, BETH BROWNING. This honor is chosen by a faculty committee of three teachers on the following five categories; walking, standing, sitting, walking up stairs, and general appearance.

Twenty-eight years ago, Ralph D. Looney, a man of investments, became interested in Milby athletes and their capacities. Being associated with Milby through his wife, a teacher, he determined to give the East End gridiron stars an incentive to strive for perfection both on the field and also in the classroom. For their contribution in the field of athletics, Mr. Looney has cited two boys each season. This year, RONNIE LOHR, athlete with the highest scholastic average, and LESLIE DERRICK, most valuable player, were selected by the team to receive the prized awards.

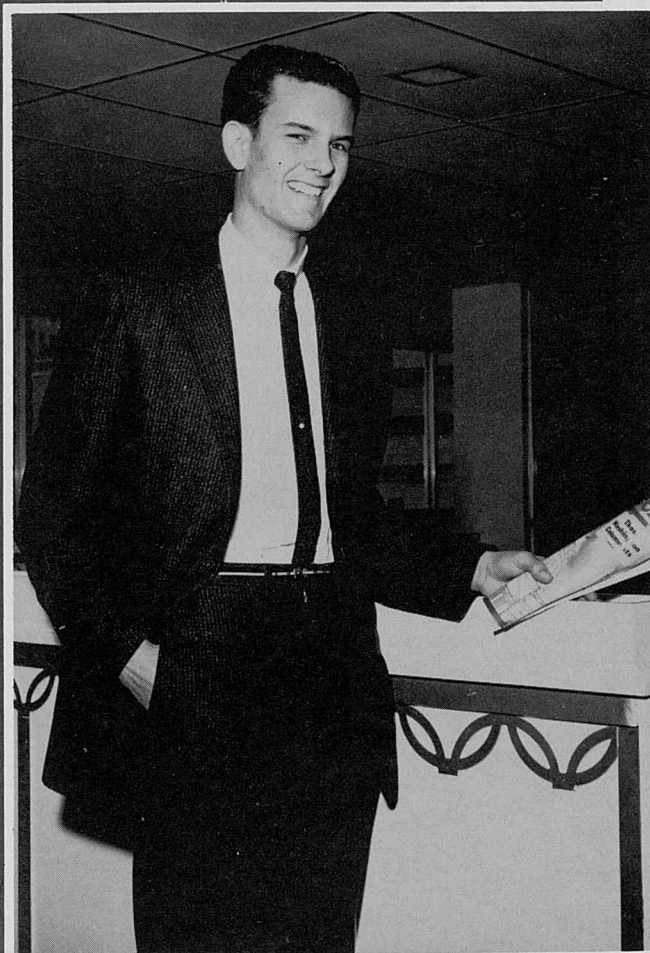

HONOREES

Outstanding Students

Commanding a sharp wit and a pronounced intellectual bearing, RONNIE BIENDSEIL strives continually to discover new concepts for a gain of knowledge. His 4.853 average represents only a facet of his capacity.

Ronnie, a prominent figure on debate, is also president of Milby's chapter of the National Forensic League, Index Editor of the BUFFALO, and a leader in numerous civic endeavors.

The only Milby student to qualify for the National Merit Scholarship semi-finals, Ronnie intends to continue studying for a career in business administration and accounting.

Intense and highly motivated, with a distinct eye on the path American life is taking, GARY ELLIS will pursue a career in chemistry.

Gary's grade average, 4.928, complemented by his varied hobbies of swimming, skating, and bowling, indicate his desire to strive for the top in whatever he does. Watching sportscar races and reading sportscar magazines are another phase of this senior's activities.

Gary will tell you in his straight-forward, decisive manner, that his desire is "to be in a position to enjoy the theatre, the arts, and travel."

A desire to help others, backed by an astute ability is the hub of the wheel of GARY ERWIN'S activities. This is evident in his work in the Junior Red Cross and the time he spends working at the Methodist Hospital. A 4.944 average, which has gained him membership in the National Honor Society, makes his acuteness apparent. His work as President of the Rolling Bisons rounds out Gary's activities.

A concern for others is also seen in his plans for entering the field of medicine. Gary wishes to prepare for his career at Rice University.

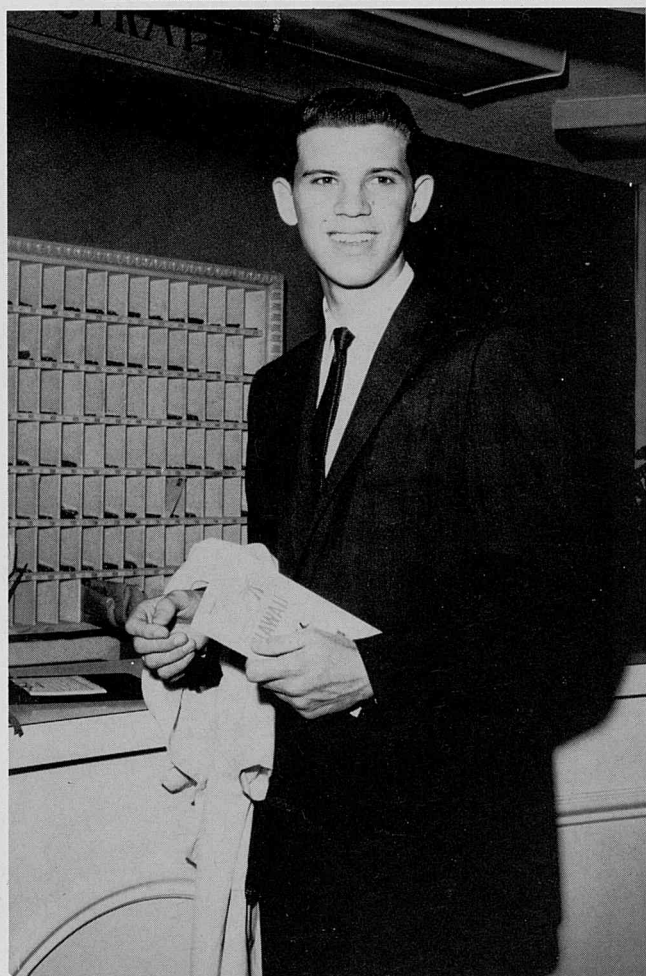

SUE GOWEN, holding a 5.000 average, has a striking array of accomplishments and interests. An avid enthusiasm for bowling and dancing, plus Junior Red Cross Volunteer work in Houston hospitals help make Sue an all-round girl. Along with holding offices in FTA and NHS, she works part time as a legal typist.

What are her goals for her life? As Sue puts it, "I want to leave some things behind me so that my life will be remembered."

A bounce in his step and a hearty "Hi, there!" have helped make BARRY HARRELL, human dynamo, the symbol of Milby's famed spirit for the past three years. Barry has participated in almost every phase of school life, from working to meet a deadline on the BUFFALO, to head cheerleader, to president of the National Honor Society. With all of his varied activities, Barry still has been able to maintain a 5.000 scholastic average.

"A new horizon can be found beyond every threshold reached, if only the opportunity is seized and the door opened," is the philosophy which will induce Barry to go on to the University of Texas and pursue a medical career.

A brisk walk and an animated manner of speaking depict DIANA HASKINSON (5.000 grade average). She is dependability—personified. Diana might be found in a gym suit, leading a Girls' Recreation Association meeting, or she could be found taking minutes at a National Honor Society meeting. This young miss, who enjoys the company of her peers loves being out-of-doors, "participating in any type of sport." In anticipation of her career of teaching, Diana is president of Future Teachers of America.

Diana believes: "To have the feeling of achievement calls for a certain degree of self-satisfaction and a sense of pride in the accomplishment."

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS

It could only be SHARON LEVINE," are familiar words around Milby as Sharon's whirlwind presence and marked originality never cease to amaze her friends.

With a sparkling wit and a brisk, though graceful pace, this vivacious redhead combines an extraordinary talent in journalism and drama with an unyielding determination to rise above the mediocre conformity of everyday life.

Four honor societies, National Honor Society, National Forensic League, Thespians, and Quill & Scroll, reflect not only Sharon's creative energy but also her scholastic ability (4.866 average).

Planning to attend college as an elementary educational major, Sharon wants "to make a significant contribution to my field of work and for the good of humanity."

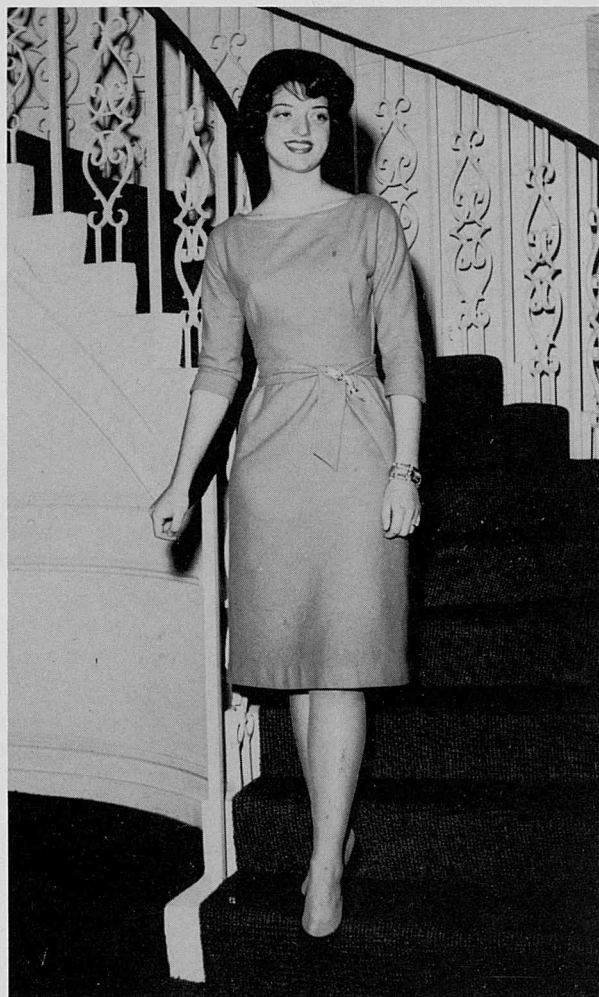

Individualism is the key word marking the successful attributes of Milby's Student Council President, TERRY PETERSON. Leading the Council, painting scenery in drama, or serving the community in the Key Club, Terry continuously displays his leadership and his versatile talents. This quality enables Terry to be selected as Milby's representative to Boys' State, and to be a letterman on the Milby tennis team. Stressing originality in thought and action, Terry can be found visiting unique coffee houses and restaurants to fulfill an overwhelming curiosity for new and different ideas.

Terry's sense of humor, endless energy, and praiseworthy scholastic average (4.885) compliment his desire to seek a medical career and "to aid my fellow man."

A widely-traveled miss with a versatile personality and a warm friendly manner, GAYLE PUTTCAMP is an automatic friend to everyone she meets. Her desire "to do something with my life that would be self-satisfying" seems to have been partly achieved at Milby where Gayle, holding a 4.857 grade average, has the reputation of a girl who can get the job done—well.

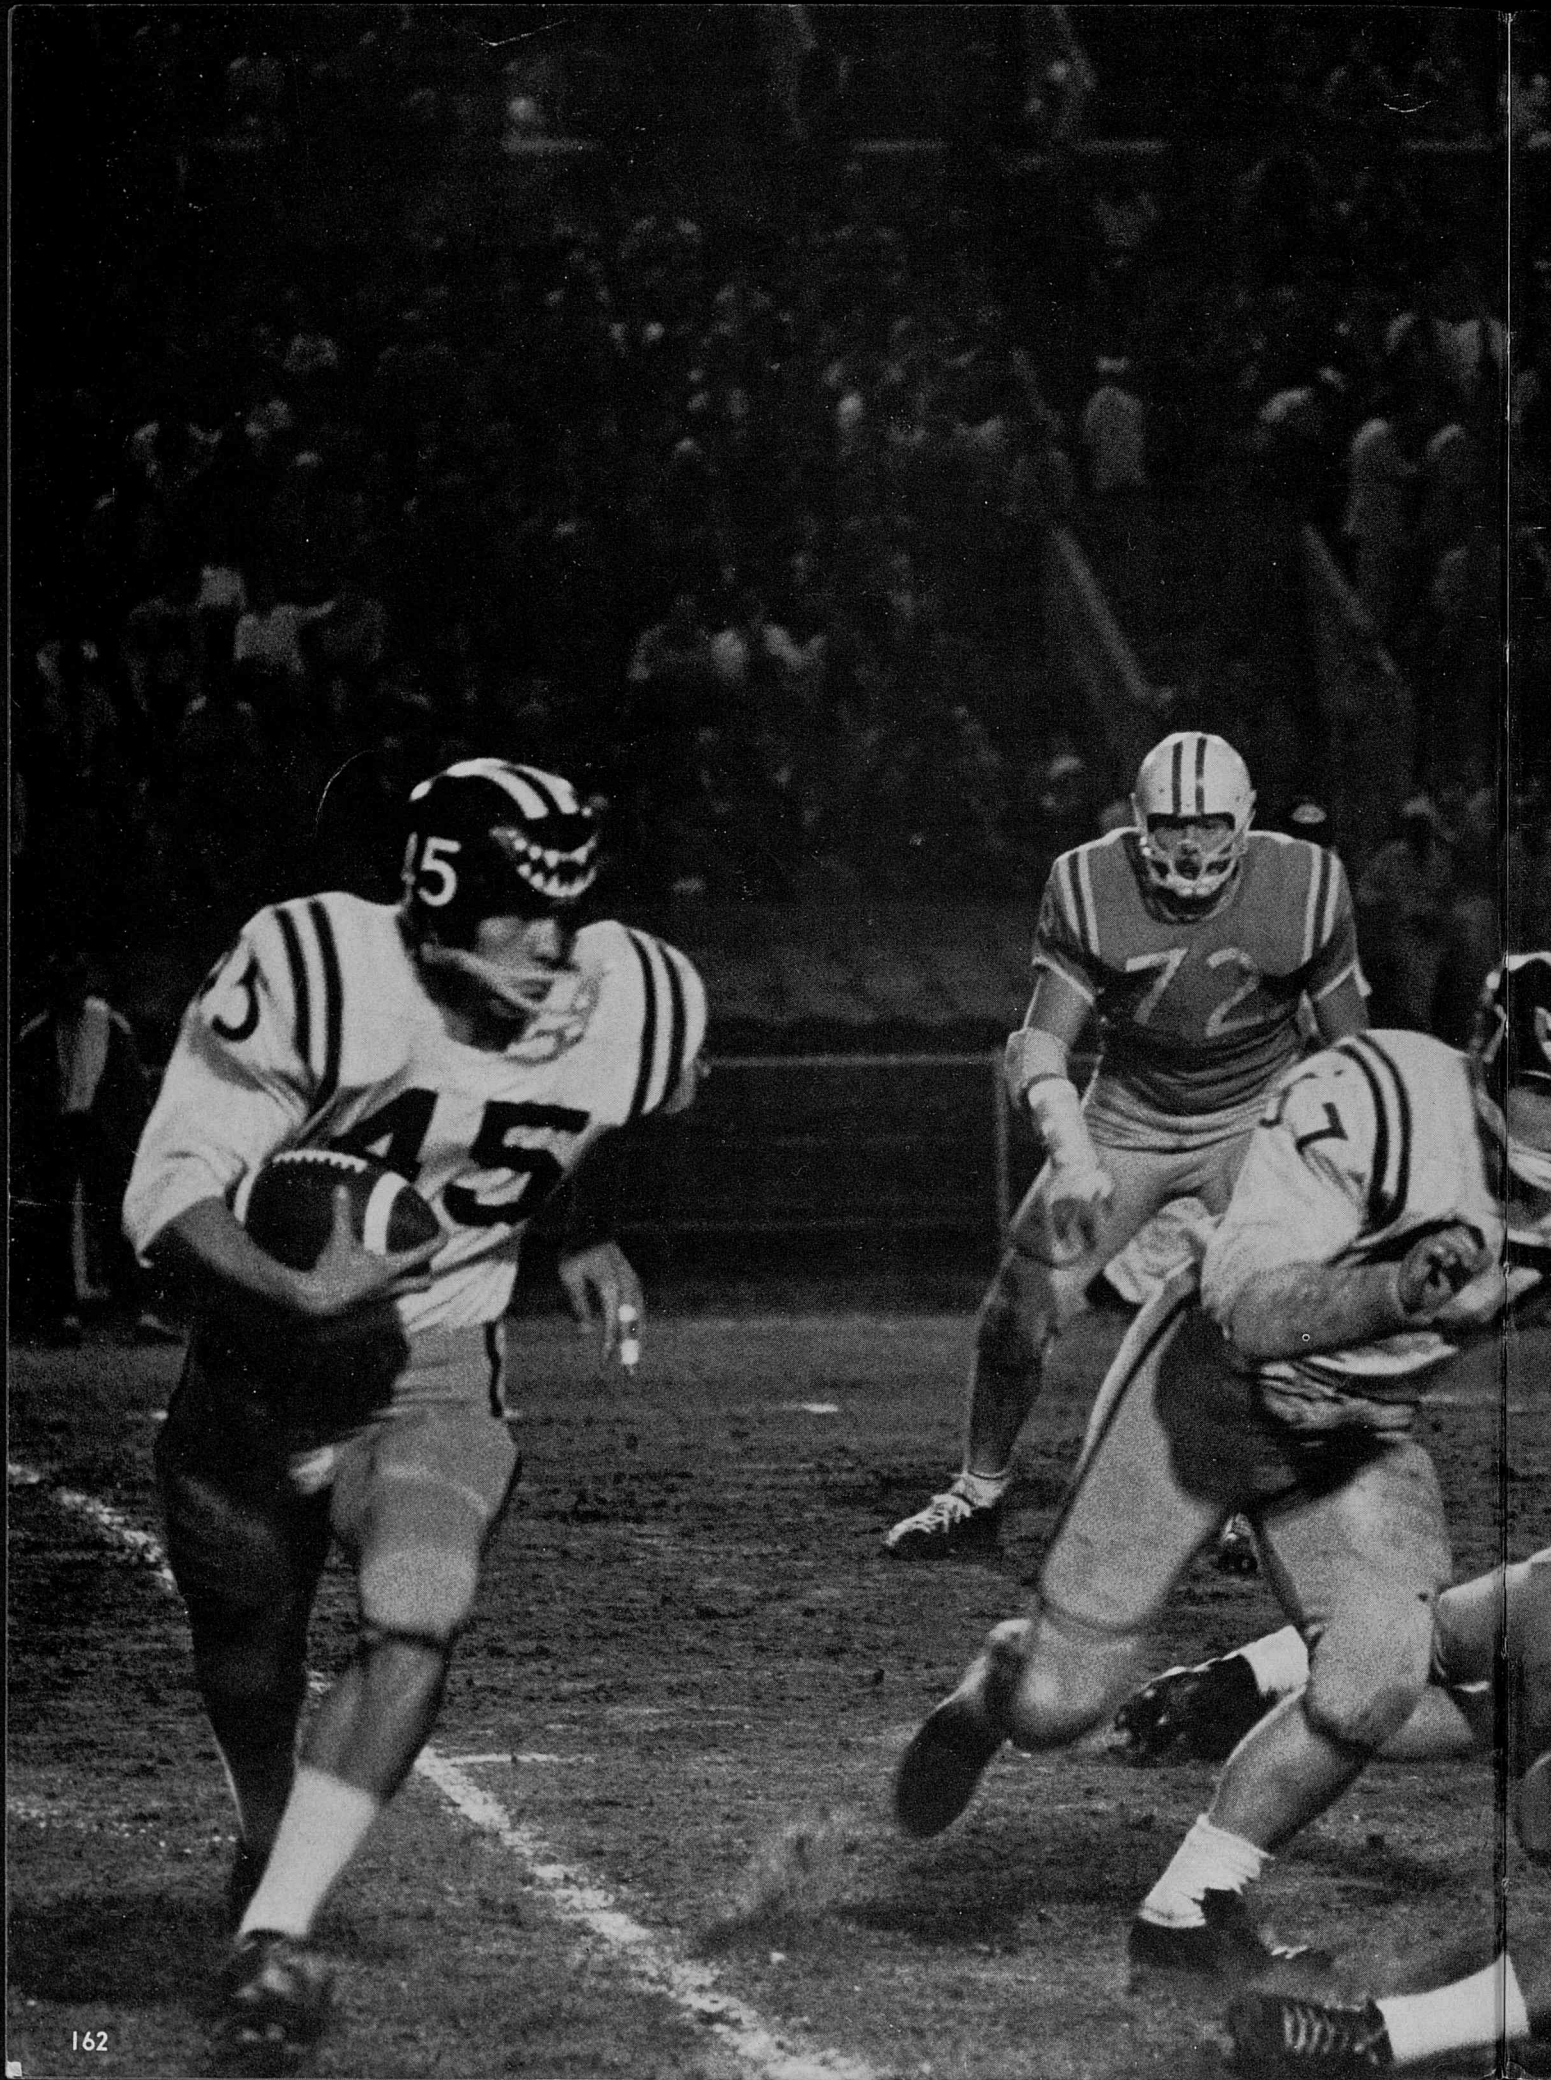

When Gayle is not traveling as national representative for Synod of United Lutheran Church, or making her own clothes, she is likely to be found working as Senior Class Editor on the BUFFALO. In fulfilling her interest in journalism, Gayle will attend Midland College in Fremont, Nebraska.

The sharp, high-stepping cadence of the Milby Coed Cadettes envelops the high school life of BARBARA RILEY, Lt. of Business and Records. Barbara's complete control of any situation reflects her self-confidence and co-ordination. Resolved "to do something good for mankind," the NHS member forecasts her life work as a teacher. Preparing for her future, she is member of Forum Teachers and supports a high 4.949 average.

Barbara is known as one who works vigorously with an uncomplaining, precocious air. A clear, fresh approach to life combined with an electric force and drive will be a well-earned asset for her success.

Hard Work, Perseverance Leads Milby to Quarterfinals

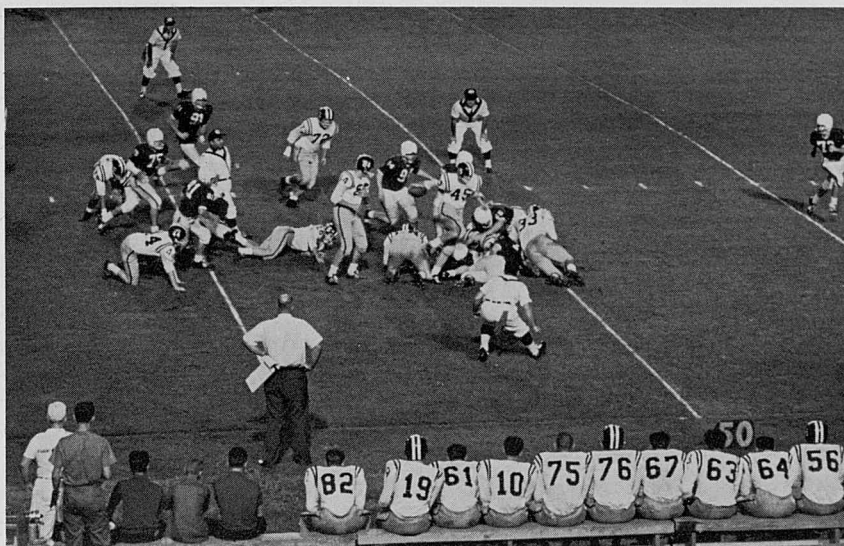

Coach Truelove relays message to Coach Bartosh from press box.

The Milby Buffs finished one of their best regular season's play in the history of Milby with a 10-0 record. The Bisons then rolled over the Spring Branch Bears 13-3 to win the City Championship. In the State AAAA Quarterfinals, the Buffaloes lost to Galena Park 27-12.

The outstanding record of 11 wins and 1 loss could not have been accomplished without the united leadership and continued organization and planning of the football coaching staff.

We salute these respected coaches for a job well done.

Milby Outscores Stubborn Beaumont 38-16

The Milby Buffs bolted to their first win of the 1961 football season with a 38-16 victory over the Beaumont Purples before 4000 animated fans at Jeppesen Stadium.

The Buffs grounded out 60 yards the first time they got the ball to a TD led by L. Derrick. Nixon plunged over from the 4 with Ashe booting the extra point. Beaumont passed its way to set up a 1 yard blast by Currie. Currie passed for the 2 points. P. Derrick snagged a 16 yard pass from brother Les for the second Buff touchdown. The Purples exploded for 77 yards in 5 plays for their second touchdown to gain a 16-13 half-time lead.

The Buffaloes romped to 3 touchdowns in the third quarter with runs of 24, 23, and 2 yards by L. Derrick, Wade, and Ashe, respectively. With 1:15 left in the game, Wells bulled over from 5 yards out and Ashe kicked his second PAT to ice over the game, 38-16.

Bisons Trample Cardinals 26-6

The Milby Buffs exerted themselves as one of Houston's strongest contenders Friday night, chalking up a 26-6 victory over the Bellaire Cardinals.

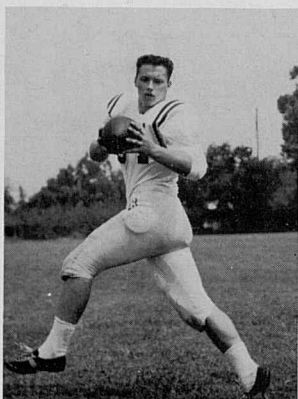

Milby's first touchdown came midway of the first quarter with P. Derrick gathering in a 23 yard L. Derrick pass in the end zone to cap a 69 yard march in 14 plays.

The Cards pulled to within a point a few minutes later when fullback Nobles ran for 78 yards. Bellaire set up to kick the point, but threw an incompleated pass instead.

The Buffs came back with their second score midway of at the 45. Les hit Phil for long yardage, then carried over from the two. Ashe kicked again and the Buffs took a 14-6 lead at the halftime.

After a 15 yard penalty Les made up the loss with another direct hit to Phil who carried over for the tally.

The final score came after Les intercepted and returned a pass 17 yards to the Cardinal two. Nixon punched it over on the second try.

Approximately 8500 fans saw Milby crush Jesse Jones 20-7 for their fourth straight win.

After receiving the kickoff, Jones punted on fourth down and the Buffs took over on their 43. In nine plays Milby had marched the distance with L. Derrick passing to P. Derrick for 30 yards. A bobbled punt left Jones on the Milby 27, but after four plays Milby had the ball on their 21. The Buffs found themselves on the Jones 12 after varied attacks led by the passing and running of L. Derrick. Morris snagged a Derrick pass for the T.D.

Solis recovered a fumble on the Jones 35 and in six plays Belcher found Robb open for the final T.D.

Jones scored late in the fourth quarter on an 81 yard drive with Busch scoring from the two.

Milby Runs Race With Clock To Nip Waltrip 18-13

The Milby Buffs showed why they are considered one of the city's top teams by producing a true team effort and marching 90 yards in the last four minutes of play to beat a fired up Waltrip team 18-13.

A 12 yard pass from L. Derrick to T. Campbell climaxed the tedious march, with only 60 seconds remaining.

Milby opened up with a grinding 59 yard touchdown in its first 11 scrimmage plays with L. Derrick scoring from the two.

Waltrip scored the first time they had the ball, chiseling out 64 yards in 14 plays along the way. T. Laminack rounded right end for the final seven yards. B. McMullen provided the conversion that sent the Rams ahead at the half 7-6.

Five plays after the second half started, M. Williams picked off Derricks' flat zone pass and sped 62 yards to a touchdown and a 13-6 lead.

Practicing every day at the third period and competing weekly, the tankers entered men in the 400 yd. free style, 50 yd. free style, 100 yd. free style, 100 yd. butterfly, 100 yd. back stroke, 100 yd. breast stroke, 200 yd. individual medley, 200 yd. medley relay, 200 yd. free style relay, and, during the city meet, diving.

Every year each school in the city has a golf team which participates in a pre-district match, consisting of playing each school in the city once. The winner of this match also receives the Houston Golf Association's trophy. When this match is completed, each team undertakes its district competition. The winner of each district then goes to regional play. Every Monday Milby plays either at Herman, Glenbrook, or Memorial municipal courses.

Every Day Is a New Day . . .

Look up and smile . . . at 7 o'clock in the morning?

'Let's Start a New One!'

Sunnye Stegall and Marcy Russell keep working—even after the 3 o'clock bell.

Mike Ross, Karen Henderson, Milanie Tankard, Judy Bowyer, Bob Kendrick, and Conna Eldridge consider lunch their favorite subject.

This is the end of a long, busy day.

From My Desk . . . to Yours

Ira McLain
Co-editor

Dear Ira,

This has been quite a year, hasn't it? How could we ever forget . . . the talking and planning that started last summer . . . the chaos, the laughter, the flare-ups, the anticipation . . . the deadline that we finally met at 4 a.m. . . . the trip to Dallas . . . the annual room which changed from lavender to pink . . . the pleasure we got from our own desks and typewriters . . . the beauty contest which caused so much anxiety . . . and finally our wonderful staff who did so much and expected so little in return.

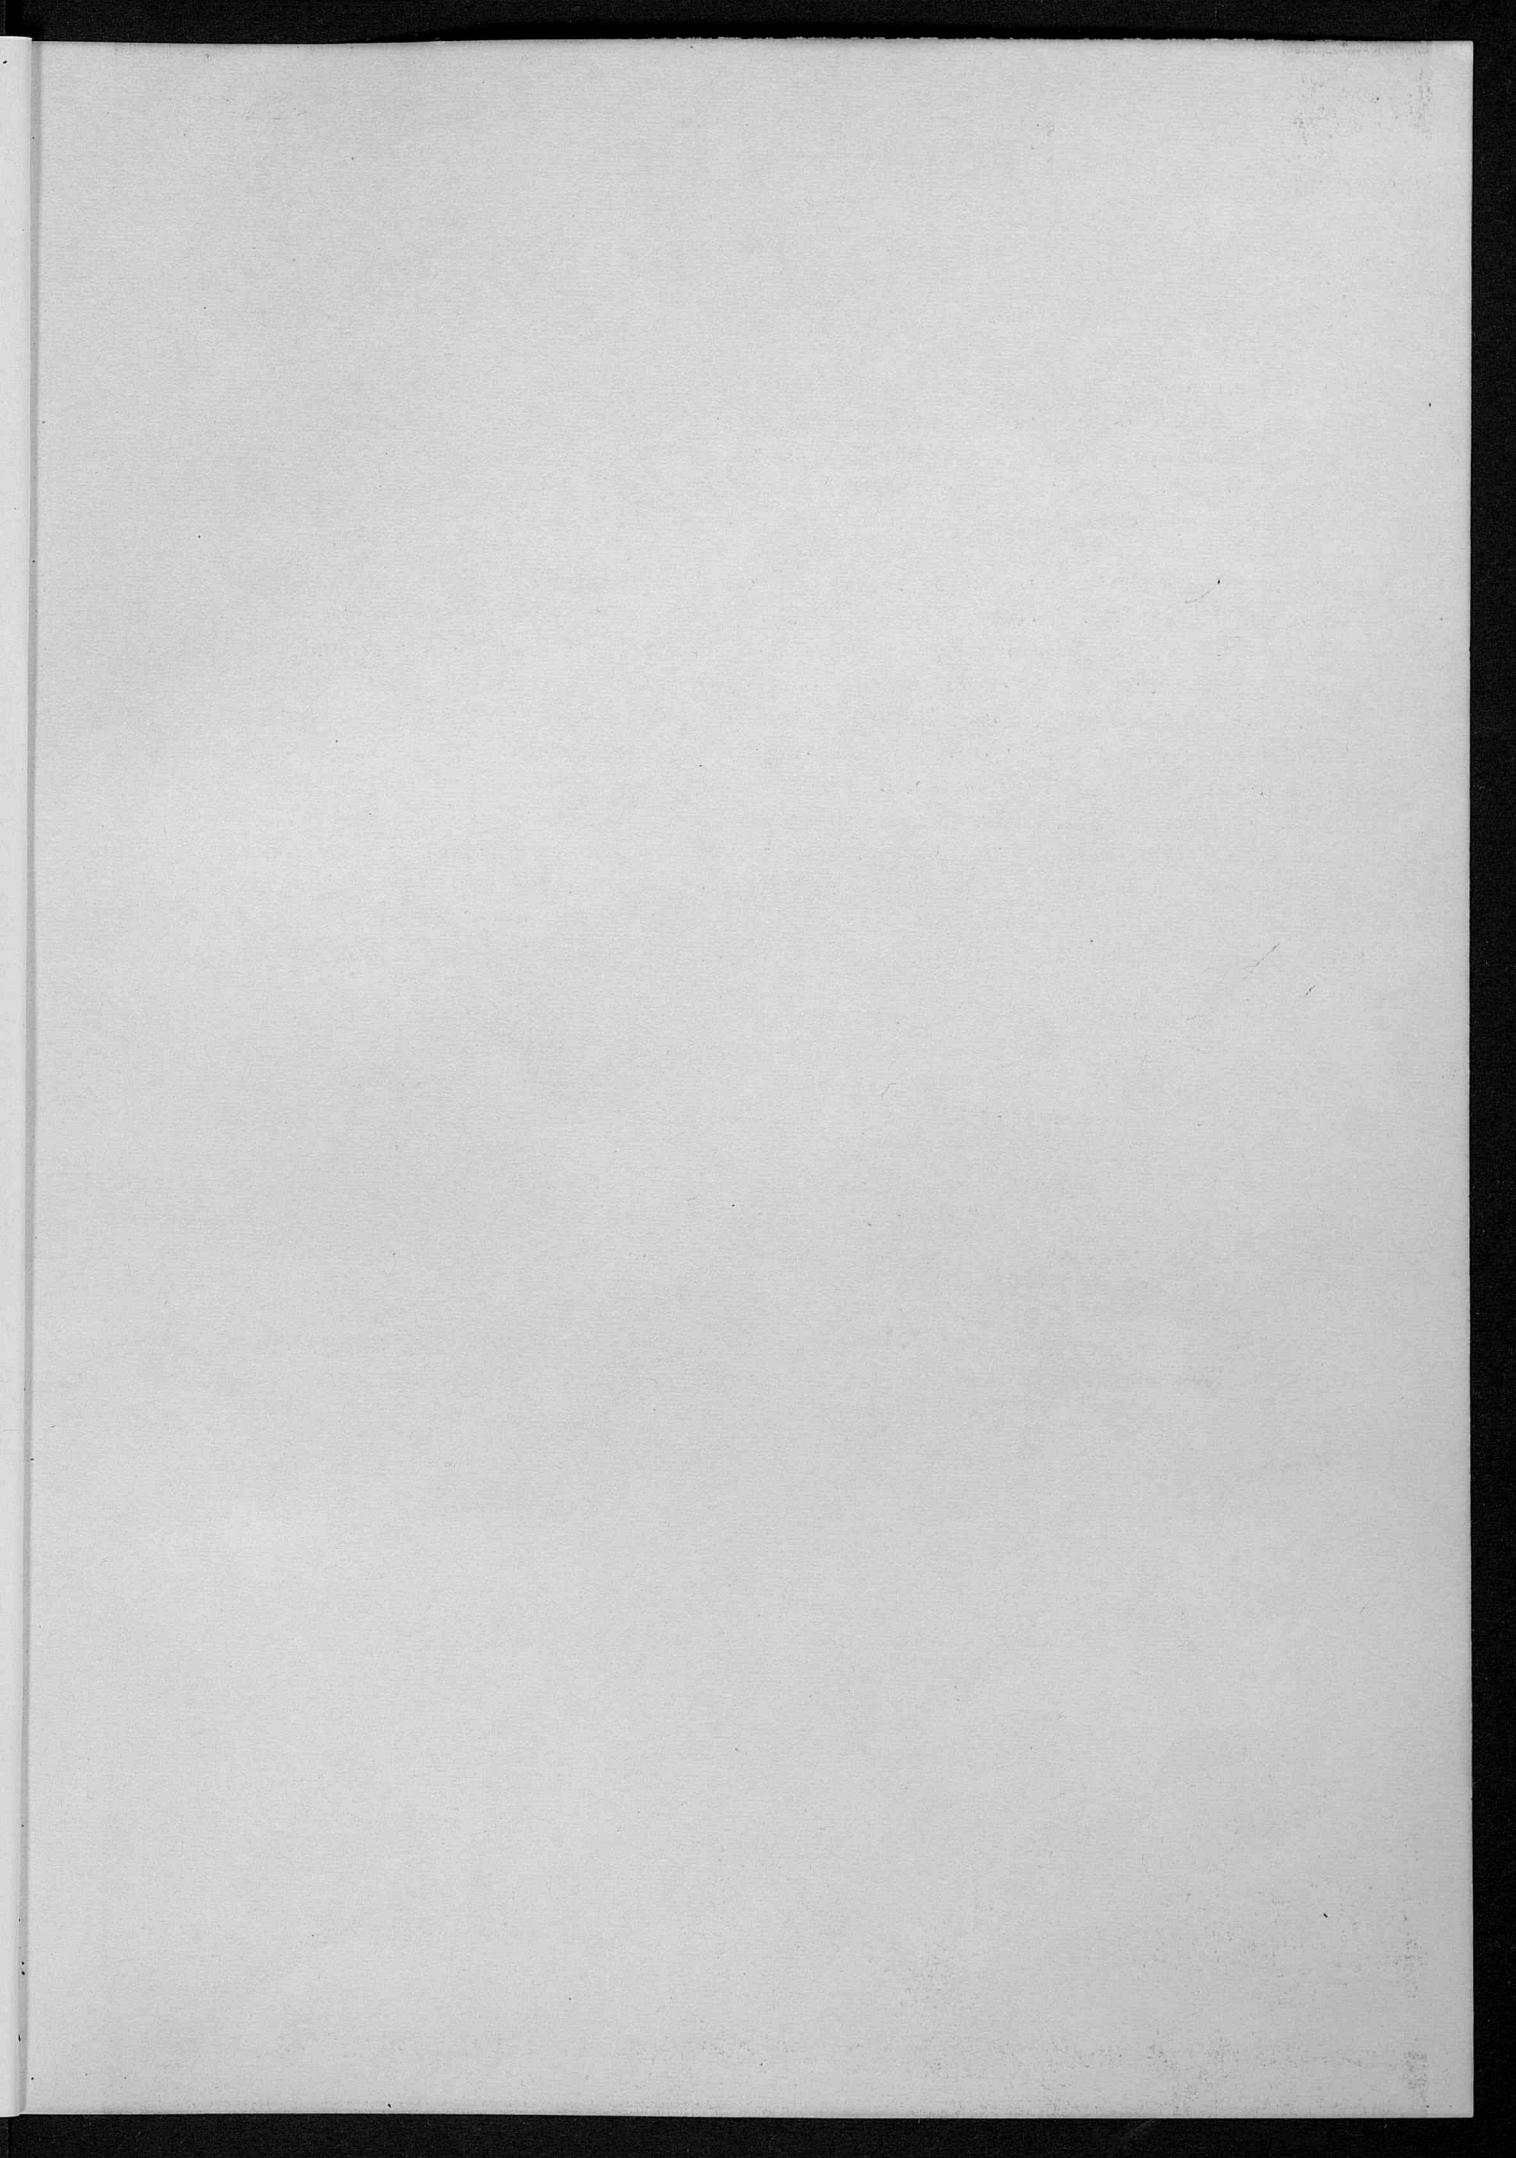

I can still picture Gayle typing senior honors . . . Carol B. who never could find quite enough pictures . . . Wanda and Marion who typed copy and then more copy . . . Mike and his not-so-trusty camera—all of whom left when you did. As we finish the last pages of the book I notice Ronnie running around with his index . . . Carole P. re-checking her organization pages once again . . . Sharon and her original tradition section . . . Martha and Geni identifying class pictures . . . and Liz re-writing copy for Outstanding Students for the third time. Remember selling ads for Betty . . . admiring Prudy's excellent art work . . . and John M. following the coaches around to take his final round of pictures. Whether it was selling ads or ordering cokes our editorial assistants, Donna, Barry, Kayren, Bill, and John W. were always ready to help. Then of course our new staffers Grover, Carol, Lynn, Charlene, Dan, Mason, and Sunnye aided us in many untold ways. How could we have ever managed without Mrs. Wilma LeNoir who was not only a most capable sponsor but a friend to everyone. She was behind every move we made. We are also deeply grateful to Mrs. Clyde Perkins who worked many added hours in order to pay our bills and take care of all our business transactions.

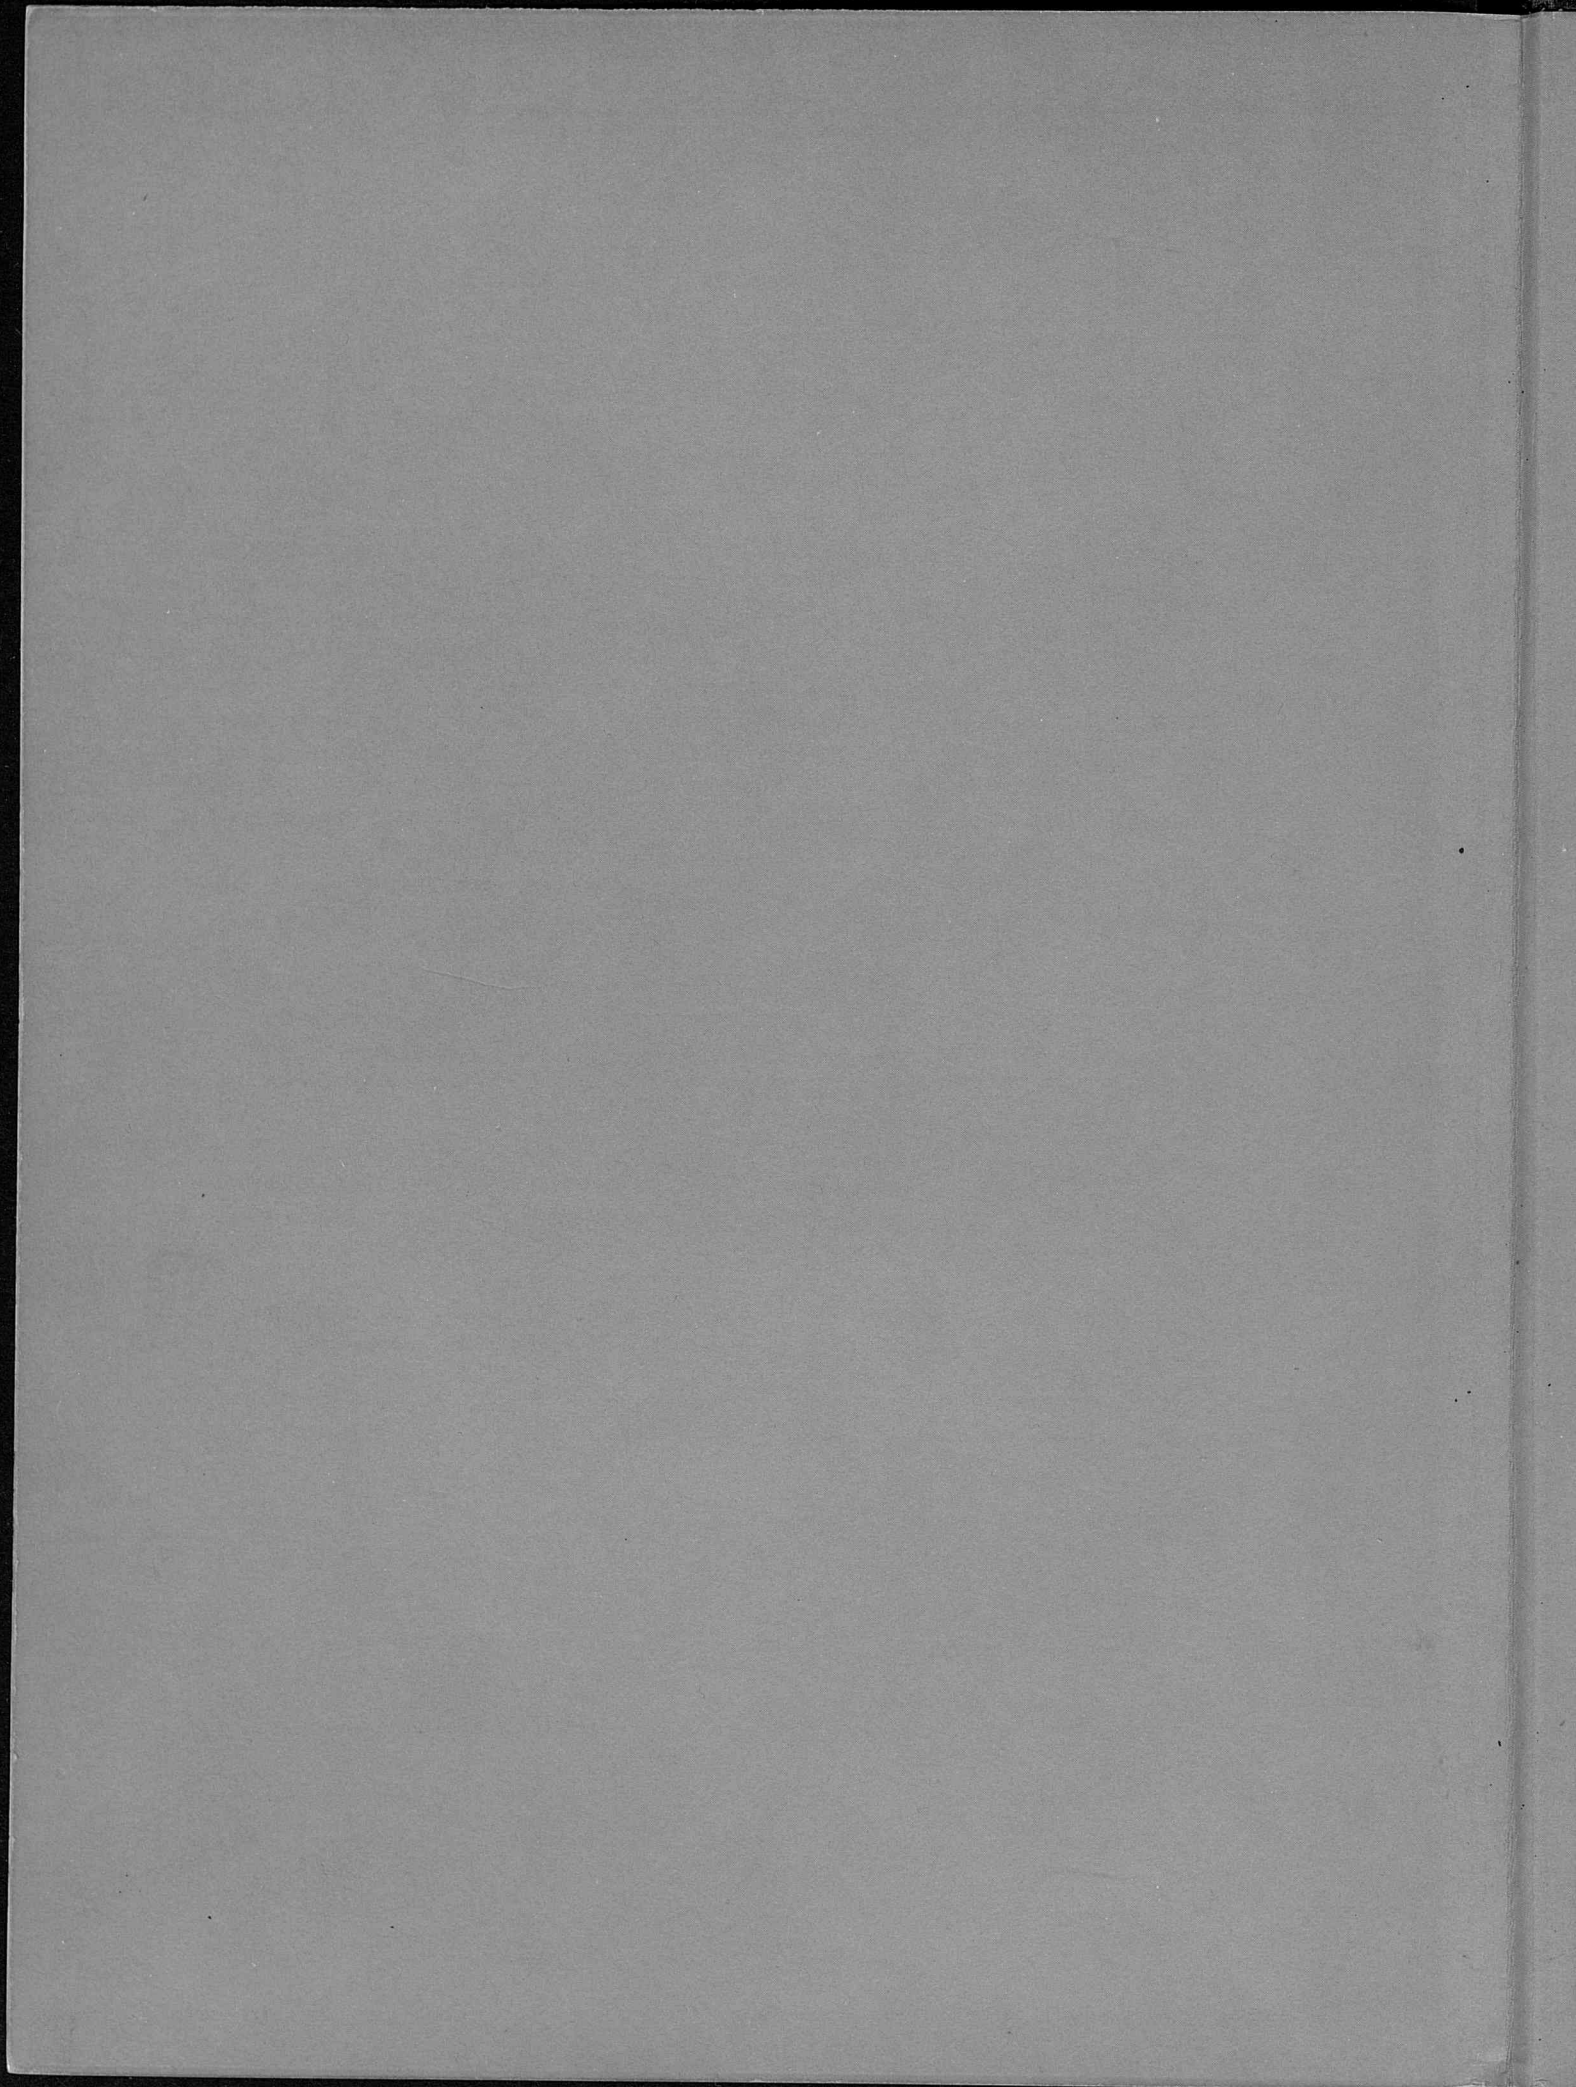

Turning from our staff, we would like to show our appreciation first to the administrative staff who aided us in any way possible . . . the teachers who patiently put up with our interruptions . . . Mr. Martin Hamilton and Mr. D-Eon Priest of Taylor Publishing Company who gave us many helpful ideas . . . the Chamber of Commerce and the Houston CHRONICLE for their pictures of Houston . . . Shell Oil Company, Westbury Square, KHOU television station, Savoy Field, and 2-K's for allowing us to use their firms for pictures . . . Mr. Harold Bishop, Nat Rhodes, Miss Frances Strickland and Mr. Roy Arnold who made frantic trips in order to take our pictures . . . all the advertisers who supported us . . . the florists who donated flowers to the beauty contest winners . . . and the entire student body who always understood and never complained even though we were often tired and irritable.

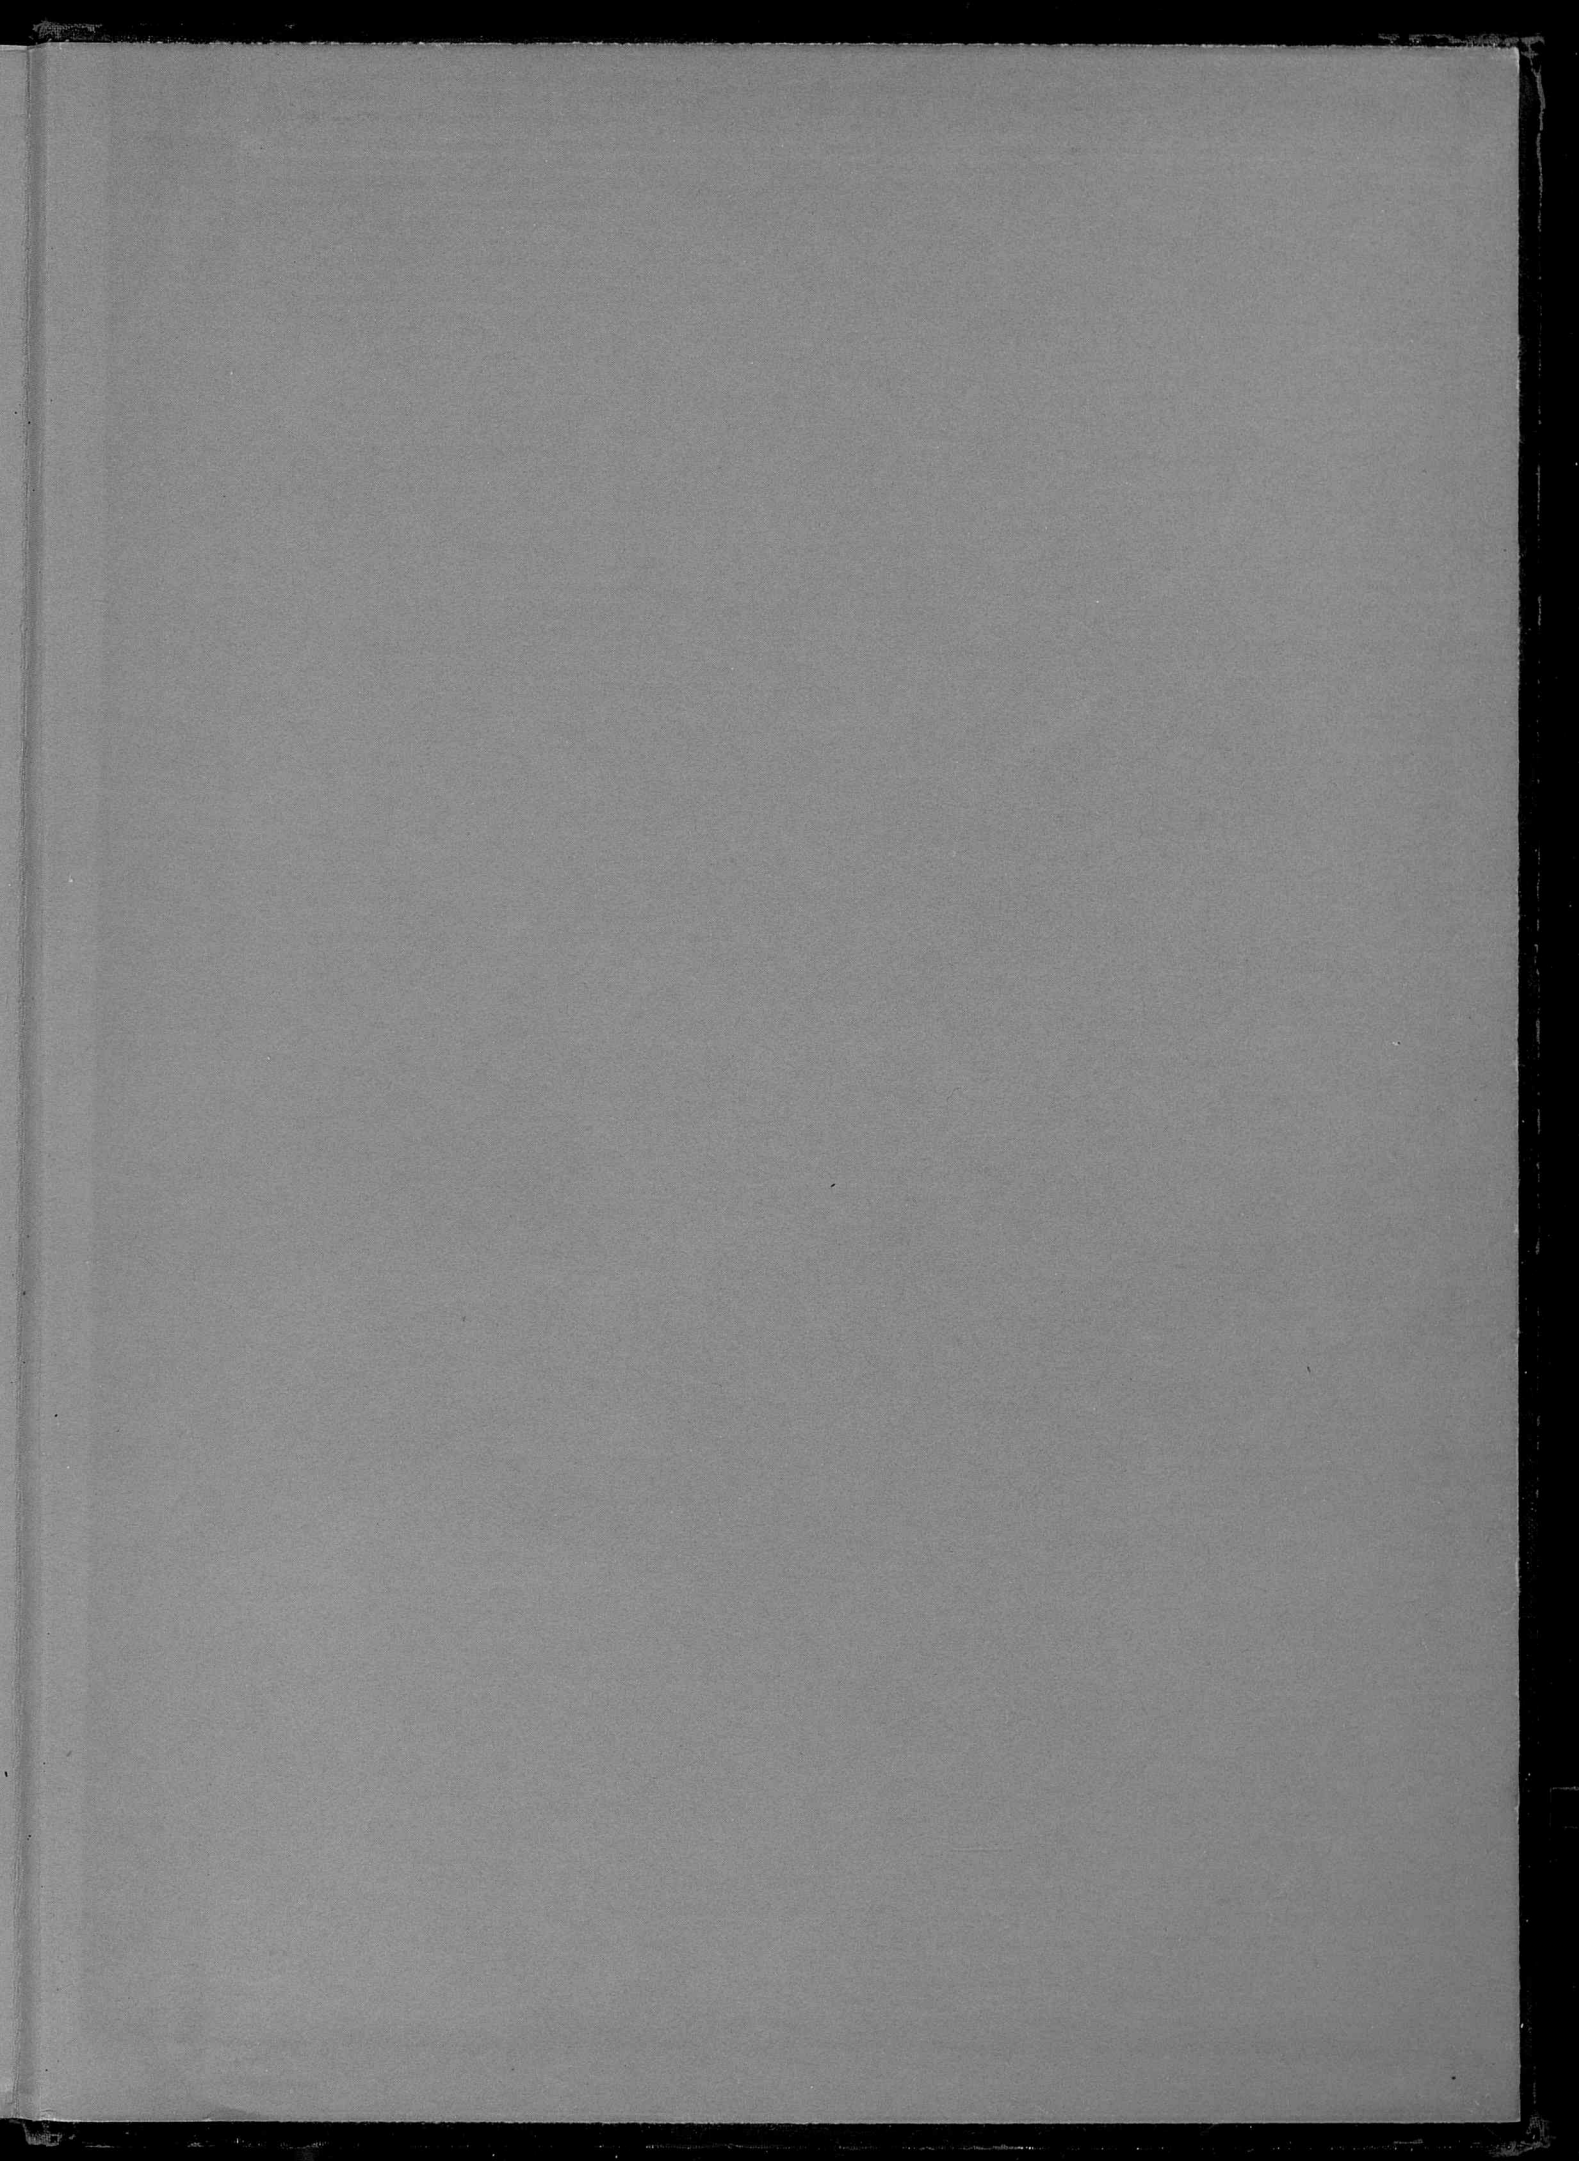

Well, Ira, this concludes our 1962 BUFFALO. We have tried to capture the PAST, PRESENT, and a glimpse into the FUTURE between these covers. I hope it pleases each and every one of our readers.
