

Charlesa Easter

Dr. Easter grew up in Cedar Hill, TX, where she attended Cedar Hill High School. This was the only time in her life, in which she was ever considered a longhorn (Gig 'Em Ags!). She enjoyed participating in sports where she played volleyball, basketball, and track. She received a Bachelor's in Psychology from Texas A&M University and obtained a Master's in Special Education from Clark Atlanta University. Later, she earned a doctorate in Educational Administration from Texas Southern University. Dr. Easter joined the HSPVA family in 2006. Prior to HSPVA, she worked as a co-teacher and resource teacher at Thompson Elementary. She has also taught life skills at JW Oates Elementary.

Dr. Easter has a wonderful husband and 3 beautiful children, who all have names that begin with the letter "P". She enjoys watching Aggie football and basketball, spending time with her family, and working on projects for her home.