

Jonathan Klein (Magnet Coordinator) made his HSPVA debut in 2015. He taught Algebra 2 and served as Math Department Chair. He also produces HSPVA's two all-school productions – the fall musical and February's Black History Production. A New York native, he moved to Houston in 2010 with Teach for America and taught math for five years at YES Prep Southeast. Previously, Jonathan worked in communications and marketing for CNBC, GE, BBDO and NBC Universal. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Media, Sciences & the Arts from SUNY Purchase and studied theatre at Northwestern University. An avid musical theater fan, he can usually be found listening to show tunes or enjoying a walk in the park with his husband and two dogs, Buffalo and Nickel. He is excited to work with future HSPVA parents and students in his new role.
