

"The HON-Code: Principles of CTE Website Evaluation"

October 21, 2020

9:00 AM - 10:00 PM

CTE teachers will learn techniques and tools to help students evaluate CTE information on the Internet. The engaging and interactive presentation will focus on the 8 principles of the HON-code (Health on the Net). The HON-code principles can be applied to all CTE fields to teach students to find and use reliable and trustworthy information on the Internet. At the conclusion of the presentation, participants will be familiar with all 8 HON code principles and can apply the concepts in their CTE classrooms to improve students' critical thinking and website evaluation skills.

Audience – Health Science & other interested CTE Teachers

Virtual Meeting – Via Microsoft Teams

Register now through OneSource Learning!

OneSource Course # 1445109

Credit Hours - 1

You must register through OneSource Learning in order to receive credit. *
For directions on how to register through OneSource, click on the arrow below.

Session Facilitator

Dr. Anna Haro

Westside High School

Contact Information: SWHITMO1@HoustonISD.org