Take the Big, Bad Challenge

A Big, Bad FREEBIE!
Directions:

After reading a version or 2 of The Three Little Pigs, I challenge my kiddos to build a house that will withstand...

The Big Bad Blow-dryer.

It is so much fun to watch them brainstorm ways to use the provided materials, such as strips of paper, unifix cubes, pipe cleaners, marshmallows and much more.

They must diagram their house first with a partner. They then work together to build their house.

After, they must carry their house to the Big Bad Blow-dryer station to take the challenge.
A Big, Bad Blow-dryer!
So Simple to make!
I just grabbed a blow-dryer and added felt ears and wiggly eyes!
My Big, Bad HOUSE would be made out of ________ & ________.

I chose these two materials because they are both _____________________.

This is a diagram of my house!
My Big Bad Brace Map!

List the items that you used to build your house.

_______

_______

_______

_______

_______

_______

_______

_______
My Big, Bad Recording Sheet!

I think my house will or will not withstand the Big, Bad, Blow-dryer!
This is what my house looked like after the Big, Bad Blow-dryer.

And the WINNER is?
Big, Bad, Blow-dryer VS. ME
Thank You

Thank you so much for downloading this file. I hope you enjoy the file and find lots of good uses for the activities! I love using this book in class.

Please know that this file is for SINGLE classroom use only. You may not sell, share, redistribute the contents of this file in any way.

I would love for you to follow me! Check out all the places that The Schroeder Page hangs below!

Be sure to head to my blog to read all about this file in action!

TPT  FB  IG  .com

Pin

Graphics by:

Monica Schroeder