

Taking Care of your Device

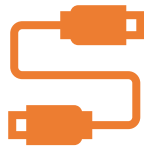

Keep food and drinks away from it, or consider getting an external keyboard and mouse.

Be careful around pets and babies.

Ensure that the keyboard is clear before closing the display monitor on top of it.

Hold it by the base with both hands and not by the display/monitor. Also, make sure your device is on a flat surface, so it doesn't fall.

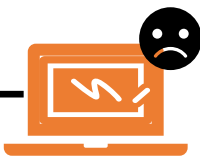

Insert and remove any cables gently, so the ports don't get damaged.

Ensure that any cable is inserted into its correct port. Charge it overnight.

Never leave it around extreme heat or cold.

When bringing it with you to or from school, carry it in a proper bag.

Devices must remain free of any writing, drawing, stickers, labels, or any other physical alterations.
