

Human Capital Fellowship
Houston Independent School District

“Developing partnerships with others who share similar goals and expectations for the students of Houston is what makes the Human Capital Fellowship such an excellent opportunity.”

Calvin Stocker, 2010-2011 Human Capital Fellow

The Houston Independent School District recognizes that high quality human capital is critical to the achievement of our students. Retaining its top performers and coaching them into the roles best suited to their skills is the responsibility of any competitive employer and HISD intends to accomplish this, in part, through the Human Capital Fellowship.

During their second year in HISD, Teach For America corps members can apply to the fellowship. Participation begins the summer prior to the third year with the district and lasts for the duration of the school year.

Fellows have the opportunity to:

- Attend a 5-day leadership institute at the Harvard Graduate School of Education
- Collaborate with an assigned mentor who holds a leadership position within the district
- Experience unique professional development opportunities aligned with personal goals

District chiefs and fellows meet

Fellows attend Harvard institute

Dr. Aaron Spence and Mandy Gutierrez

Candidates interesting in applying for the 2011-2012 Human Capital Fellowship can look forward to information sessions held in January and February.

Applications will be available starting in January and due in February.

For more information, please contact Karrie Aldrich, Academics Program Manager: kaldrich@houstonisd.org or call 713-556-7341

HISD appreciates the support of The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, which makes this initiative possible.