SUBJECT: ASSESSMENT OF STUDENT PERFORMANCE IN SPECIAL EDUCATION:
SPRING 2011

Attached is a copy of the Assessment of Student Performance in Special Education report for Spring 2011. Results from the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) are provided for students with disabilities in English and in Spanish. The results presented are the scale scores, passing rates and percent commended for Spring 2011 compared to Spring 2010 data.

Some of this year's highlights are as follows.

- In 2011, there were a total of 16,402 HISD students with disabilities. This is a decrease from 2010 in which there were 16,503 HISD students with disabilities.
- The overall passing percentage on the mathematics section of TAKS increased from 45 percent in 2010 to 47 percent in 2011. For science and social studies, the overall passing percentage increased from 45 percent to 48 percent and 75 percent to 76 percent, respectively.
- Passing rates for students overall taking the TAKS-Modified and TAKS-Alternate increased from 2010 to 2011 for the majority of grades and subjects.
- The percent of students assessed in reading on the TAKS-Modified version of the test decreased from 5% in 2010 to 4.7% in 2011. The percent of special education students assessed in reading on the TAKS-Alternate version increased from 1.0% in 2010 to 1.1% in 2011.

Assessment of Student Performance in Special Education, Spring 2011

Introduction

According to the “No Child Left Behind” Act (NCLB), all students including students with disabilities must be tested annually using statewide assessments. The performance of students with disabilities must be reported at the state, district, and school levels. Therefore, this report will examine the performance of students with disabilities on the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) including the TAKS-Accommodated, TAKS-Modified, and TAKS-Alternate in the Houston Independent School District (HISD). This report will provide demographic information for the students with disabilities served in HISD and their participation rates on state assessments, before presenting their performance results.

Table 1 provides the demographic characteristics of students with disabilities for 2010 and 2011 in HISD. The demographic characteristics of these students were retrieved from the Public Education Information Management System (PEIMS) for both years. District data comes from the PEIMS Edit+ Reports.

Students with disabilities account for approximately eight percent of HISD's student population. In 2011, there were a total of 16,402 students with disabilities. This is a slight decrease from 2010 in which there were 16,503 students with disabilities. The majority of students with disabilities were male at 67.2 percent compared to 32.8 percent who were female. Also, in 2011, 54.2 percent of students with disabilities were Hispanic, 36.1 percent were African American, and 7.9 percent were White. Students with disabilities identified as economically disadvantaged accounted for 82.3 percent of the population in 2011. The majority of students, 50.0 percent, were diagnosed with a learning disability followed by 12.8 percent with a speech impairment, and 12.0 percent were diagnosed with mental retardation as their primary disability. Less than one percent of students had a primary disability of visual impairment, deaf-blind, traumatic brain injury, or noncategorical early childhood.

Tables 2 and 3 provide the ethnic distribution of HISD students with disabilities by primary disability for 2010 and 2011.

The majority of African American, Hispanic, and White students with disabilities were identified as having a learning disability during both school years. The percent of African American students with disabilities who were identified with a learning disability decreased by 0.6 percent from 53.0 percent in 2010 to 52.4 percent in 2011. The percent of Hispanic students with a learning disability decreased from 53.8 percent in 2010 to 52.5 percent in 2011, although they still had the highest percentage of students, among the subgroups, with a learning disability at 52.5 percent, followed by African Americans at 52.4 percent, Whites with 28.0 percent and Asians with 22.5 percent. Speech impairment followed learning disability as the most identified primary disability for Hispanic (14.1 percent), and White (22.6 percent) students and was also the prominent disability for Asian students at 25.4 percent. The second most common disability for African American students was mental retardation at 13.6 percent.

Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS), including the TAKS-Accommodated Form

The Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) was first administered in the spring of 2003. The TAKS measures the statewide curriculum in reading/English language arts (ELA) and mathematics for grades 3–11; in writing grades 4 and 7; in science grades 5, 8, 10, and 11; and in social studies grades 8, 10, and 11. The Spanish TAKS is administered in grades 3–5 in reading and mathematics, in grade 4 for writing, and in grade 5 for science. The TAKS included an accommodated form called TAKS (Accommodated) for students served by special education who meet the eligibility requirements for specific accommodations. The TAKS (Accommodated) form includes some format accommodations such as larger font and fewer test items per page. Also, field-test questions were not included in the TAKS (Accommodated). The TAKS (Accommodated) was available in Spanish and for all grades and subjects that are assessed with the TAKS.

Administration of the TAKS Examination to HISD Students

The TAKS Examination schedule (Table 4) lists the various subtests administered districtwide during the spring of 2011.

Analysis of TAKS Examination Results

Results for grades 3–11 from the English TAKS for reading/ELA and mathematics; writing grades 4 and 7; science grades 5, 8, 10, and 11; and social studies grades 8, 10 and 11 were examined in this report. Similarly, results for grades 3–5 from the Spanish TAKS for reading and mathematics, grade 4 for writing, and grade 5 for science are provided. All students are required to take the TAKS test with two exceptions: 1) students required to take the TAAS test to meet their graduation requirement; and 2) those that are exempt from it and are tested on an alternate instrument as dictated by their Individual Education Plan (IEP). Grades five and eight reading tests had three separate test administrations in 2011 due to the state's Student Success Initiative: April 5, May 18 (students not previously passed), and June 29 (students not previously passed). Grades 5 and 8 mathematics also had three administrations: April 4, May 17, and June 28. The TAKS reading and math results for grades five and eight in this report reflect the first administration. Districtwide results were compared to statewide performance for all students on both the English and Spanish versions of the TAKS. For comparison purposes, two years of data were reported.

English TAKS Results for HISD and the State

The state TAKS exam results for students with disabilities who took the English version were compared to HISD districtwide results for grades 3–11. This process also included a comparison of state and HISD results in all of the TAKS content areas. The information regarding the HISD and state comparisons for reading, mathematics, writing, science, social studies, and all tests taken is presented in Tables 5–10. The percent of students meeting the TAKS passing standard is included in the analysis. The results of students taking TAKS (Accommodated) were included in the 2010 and 2011 TAKS performance. The percent of students earning the commended status is also included.

Reading

State and HISD reading (grades 3–9) and English Language Arts (grades 10–11) results on the English version of the TAKS from 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 5.

- The number of HISD students with disabilities that participated in the TAKS reading/ELA test decreased from 4,991 in 2010 to 4,779 in 2011. Grade 9 experienced the largest decrease with 100 fewer students taking the test in 2011.
- While the overall reading passing rate for students with disabilities decreased for HISD from 56 percent to 55 percent, increases were seen at grades four, five, seven, and eleven.
- On the 2011 TAKS reading/English Language Arts tests, the state outperformed HISD in all grades for percent passing. For percent commended, with the exception of third graders, HISD students were outperformed or matched by the state.
- A gap analysis of the percent passing the 2011 TAKS reading test results between the state and HISD revealed the largest difference of 15 percentage points for grade nine while HISD performed better than the state at grades three, four, and five. HISD closed the gap with state performance from seven percentage points to five percentage points.

Mathematics

State and HISD mathematics (grades 3–11) results on the English version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 6.

- On the 2011 TAKS mathematics test, HISD's math passing rates for students with disabilities increased from 45 percent to 47 percent. Increases were shown at grades 3–4, 6–9, and 11.
- A gap analysis of the percent passing the 2011 TAKS mathematics test results between the state and HISD revealed the largest difference between HISD and the state of nine percentage points at grade 11, while HISD performed better than the state at grades three, four, and five. HISD closed the gap with state performance by two percentage points.
- For the spring 2011 TAKS mathematics test, HISD's scores at the passing standard ranged from 23 percent for ninth and tenth grade to 78 percent for fourth grade. The state's scores ranged from 27 to 71 percent.

Writing

State and HISD writing results on the English version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 7.

- For the spring 2011 TAKS writing test, HISD outperformed the state on percent passing in grade four but not grade seven. HISD outperformed the state in fourth grade for percent commended, and in seventh grade HISD matched the state.
- The state's scores at the passing standard were 68 percent for fourth grade and 69 percent for seventh grade. The HISD scores at this same standard were 71 percent for grade four, and 67 percent for grade seven. Across both grades, HISD matched the state passing standard at 69 percent.

Science

State and HISD results on the English version of the TAKS for science for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 8.

- For the spring 2011 TAKS science test, HISD outperformed the state on the percent passing for grades five and eight. The state outperformed HISD for grades ten and 11. HISD closed the gap with state performance overall from seven percentage points to four percentage points.

- HISD's 2011 TAKS science passing rate for students with disabilities increased from 45 percent to 48 percent. Increases were evident for grades five, eight, and eleven.

Social Studies

State and HISD results on the English version of the TAKS for social studies for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 9.

- For the spring 2011 TAKS social studies test, the state outperformed HISD in all grades for percent passing.
- The district showed an improvement at grade 11 from 2010 to 2011 while grades eight and ten remained constant from 2010. The overall passing rate increased from 75 to 76 percent.

All Tests Taken

State and HISD results on the English version of the TAKS for all tests taken at each grade for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 10. All tests taken cannot be calculated for grades with multiple administrations.

- For the spring 2011 TAKS performance results for all tests taken, the state outperformed HISD at four of the grades tested for percent passing but was outperformed by the district at grades three and four and matched in grade seven.
- Grade three reported the highest percentage of students passing for both HISD and the state with 69 and 63 percent of students passing, respectively.
- HISD increased the passing rates on all tests taken for students with disabilities from 32 to 34 percent and closed the gap with the state by three percentage points.

Spanish TAKS Results for HISD and the State

The TAKS exam results for students with disabilities who took the Spanish version statewide were compared to HISD districtwide results for grades three through five. The information regarding the HISD and state comparisons for reading, mathematics, writing, and science is presented in the next few sections. Also, the results of students taking TAKS (Accommodated) were included in the 2010 and 2011 TAKS performance.

Reading

State and HISD reading results on the Spanish version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 11.

(*) Fewer than five students tested.

- On the 2011 Spanish TAKS reading test, HISD students with disabilities in grade three outperformed their state counterparts as measured at the state passing standard and the opposite was true for grade four. HISD students outperformed the state overall in Spanish reading by two percentage points.
- In terms of commended status on the reading test, HISD students with disabilities outperformed their counterparts in the state in grades three and four and overall.

Mathematics

State and HISD mathematics results on the Spanish version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 12.

- HISD students with disabilities outperformed their state counterparts on the 2011 Spanish TAKS mathematics test for the percent passing at the state standard in grade four but were outperformed by the state in grade three. HISD continued to outperform the state in Spanish math passing rates but to a lesser degree than in 2010.

- In grade three, HISD students with disabilities exceeded their state counterparts on the Spanish TAKS mathematics test for commended status, while the state's fourth graders outperformed HISD's. Again, comparison data for grade five are not available for HISD.

Writing

State and HISD writing results on the Spanish version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined for fourth grade. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 13.

- On the 2011 Spanish TAKS writing test, HISD and the state had 64 and 69 percent of fourth graders meeting the standard, respectively. However, HISD fourth graders outsourced their state counterparts in the percentage of commended students at 8 percent compared to 7 percent for the state. In addition, HISD outperformed the state on average scale score with a score of 2232 to the states 2227, respectively.

Science

State and HISD writing results on the Spanish version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined for fifth grade. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 14.

- At the state level, performance levels for the Spanish TAKS science test remained the same at percent passing and increased slightly in 2011 for percent commended and average scale scores.
- Comparison data for grade five are not available for HISD.

All Tests Taken

State and HISD results for all tests taken on the Spanish version of the TAKS for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 15. All tests taken cannot be calculated for grades with multiple administrations of any subject.

- In 2011, on the Spanish TAKS test, HISD students were outperformed by their state counterparts on all tests taken in the third and fourth grade for percent passing. HISD's overall percent passing on all tests taken in Spanish decreased from 40 to 35 percent.
- HISD outperformed the state on the percent commended in grade three, and matched the state for percent commended in grade four.

Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills-Modified (TAKS-M)

The TAKS-M is an alternate assessment based on modified academic achievement standards for students receiving special education services who meet eligibility criteria. Some of the modifications of the TAKS-M includes fewer test items, reduced number of answer choices, Verdana font and a larger point size, more white space, simplified sentence structure, vocabulary, and graphics, and deleted extraneous information. Results for TAKS-M were only available in English.

According to the Texas Education Agency (TEA), in order to determine eligibility, students must first meet the following description, "Students receiving special education services who have a disability that significantly affects academic progress in the grade-level curriculum and precludes the achievement of grade-level proficiency within a school year will be assessed with TAKS-M." Then the ARD committee determines if a student's knowledge and skills in one or more subject areas can best be assessed with TAKS-M, if the student meets all of the following participation criteria. The student:

- needs extensive modifications and/or accommodations to classroom instruction, assignments, and assessments to access and demonstrate progress in the grade-level TEKS,
- demonstrates academic progress in such a way that even if significant growth occurs during the school year, the ARD committee is reasonably certain that the student will not achieve grade-level proficiency as demonstrated by multiple valid measures of evidence,
- meets some but not all of the participation criteria of TAKS-Alternate, and

- requires an alternate form of TAKS which is more closely aligned with instructional modifications in order to demonstrate knowledge of the grade-level TEKS.

- There were a total of 5,558 HISD students with disabilities that were tested on the 2011 TAKS-M reading test. This is a decrease from 2010 in which 5,908 HISD students with disabilities were tested on this TAKS version.
- On the reading TAKS-M, HISD fifth graders experienced the highest percent of students meeting the standard with 91 percent, while eleventh grade had the lowest at 57 percent. With the exception of grades four, five, six, and seven the state outperformed HISD in meeting the standard in 2011.
- HISD students tested on the TAKS-M in reading increased their passing rate in 2011 overall by four percentage points to 82 percent, thus closing the gap with the state to within two percentage points. Increases were shown at grades 3–7, 9, and 10.

- For the spring 2011 TAKS social studies test, the state outperformed HISD in all grades for percent passing.
- The district showed an improvement at grades eight and ten from 2010 to 2011, and increased the overall social studies passing rate from 58 to 59 percent.

All Tests Taken

State and HISD results on the English version of the TAKS-M for all tests taken at each grade for 2011 were examined. The results from a comparative analysis of these data are presented in Table 21. All tests taken cannot be calculated for grades with multiple administrations.

Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills-Alternate (TAKS-Alt)

The TAKS-Alt is an assessment based on alternate academic achievement standards and is designed for students with significant cognitive disabilities who meet the participation requirements. The TAKS-Alt is not a traditional paper-and-pencil or multiple-choice test. Teachers observe students as they complete teacher-designed activities that link to the grade-level TEKS curriculum through prerequisite skills. Teachers then score student performance using the TAKS-Alt rubric and submit results and documentation through the TAKS-Alt online system. The TAKS-Alt is available for all grades and subjects tested on TAKS. Results for TAKS-Alt are only available in English. Aggregated totals for state TAKS-Alt results are not available.

According to TEA, “Students receiving special education services who have the most significant cognitive disabilities and are unable to participate in the other statewide assessments even with substantial accommodations and/or modifications will be assessed with TAKS-Alt.” The ARD committee may determine that a student’s knowledge and skills can best be assessed with TAKS-Alt if the student meets all of the following participation criteria.

The student:

- requires supports to access the general curriculum that may include assistance involving communication, response style, physical access, or daily living skills,
- requires direct, intensive, individualized instruction in a variety of settings to accomplish the acquisition, maintenance and generalization of skills,
- accesses and participates in the grade-level Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) through activities that focus on prerequisite skills,
- demonstrates knowledge and skills routinely in class by methods other than paper-and-pencil tasks, and
- demonstrates performance objectives that may include real life applications of the grade-level TEKS as appropriate to the student's abilities and needs.

Reading

State and HISD reading (grades 3–9) and English Language Arts (grades 10–11) results on the TAKS-Alt from 2010 and 2011 were examined. The results are presented in Table 22.

- A total of 1,341 HISD students with disabilities participated on the 2011 TAKS-Alt reading assessment. This is a slight increase from last year in which 1,224 students were tested.
- On the TAKS-Alt reading test, the state outperformed HISD in all grades, except seventh, tenth, and eleventh where the district matched or exceeded the state, for percent passing. The HISD scores at the passing standard ranged from 91 percent for fifth grade to 97 percent for grades seven and ten.

- Increases in reading TAKS-Alt passing rates for HISD for 2011 were shown in all grades and overall.

- A total of 1,341 HISD students with disabilities participated on the 2011 TAKS-Alt math assessment. This is a slight increase from last year in which 1,223 students were tested.
- On the TAKS-Alt mathematics test, the state outperformed HISD in every grade except grade seven for percent passing. HISD scores at the passing standard ranged from 88 percent for ninth grade to 97 percent for seventh grade. These passing rates in math showed increases in 2011 at grades 3–8 and 10. The overall passing rate increased from 88 to 94 percent.

Writing

State and HISD writing results on the TAKS-Alt from 2010 and 2011 were examined. The results are presented in Table 24.

- On the 2011 TAKS-Alt for all tests taken, with the exception of grades seven and eleven, where the district matched or exceeded the state's performance, the state outperformed HISD for percent passing at the other seven grade levels.
- For all tests taken, HISD outperformed the state for percent commended in three of the nine grades tested on the TAKS-Alt in 2011 but the opposite was true for the remaining six grades.
- Increases in passing rates of the TAKS-Alt were evident for HISD at grades 3–8 and 10, and overall.

Test Version Taken at the District-Level

The state has developed and administers different versions of the TAKS test based upon students' instructional setting, including the TAKS (Accommodated), TAKS-Alternate (TAKS-Alt), TAKS-Modified (TAKS-M), and the TAKS-LAT (Linguistically Accommodated Testing). The TAKS (Accommodated) form includes some format accommodations such as larger font and fewer test items per page. The TAKS-Alt is an assessment based on alternate academic achievement standards and is designed for students with significant cognitive disabilities who meet the participation requirements. The TAKS-M is an alternate assessment based on modified academic achievement standards for students receiving special education services who meet eligibility criteria. The TAKS-LAT is a special administration of TAKS for LEP-exempt recent immigrants. LAT administrations are provided in designated grades and subjects.

A count and a descriptive analysis of the number of HISD students tested on the different versions of the TAKS, including TAKS, TAKS-Accommodated, TAKS Modified, TAKS-LAT, and TAKS-Alternate, were summarized for the 2011 TAKS examination for grades 3–11. Campus information can be found in the back pages of the 2011 TAKS report produced by the HISD Department of Research and Accountability. The districtwide results for reading/English language arts for 2010 and 2011 are presented in Tables 28 & 29.

- HISD's percent of students taking TAKS-M for mathematics decreased from 4.9 in 2010 to 4.6 in 2011. The percent of HISD students taking TAKS-Alt increased slightly from 1.0 in 2010 to 1.1 in 2011.

Discussion

In large part, TAKS scores for HISD students with disabilities increased, across subjects, from 2010 to 2011. For TAKS reading, the percentage of students with disabilities meeting the state passing standard decreased slightly from 56 percent in 2010 to 55 percent in 2011. For TAKS mathematics, the overall passing percentage increased from 45 percent in 2010 to 47 percent in 2011. For TAKS writing the percentage of students with disabilities meeting the passing standard in 2011 decreased slightly from 70 percent in 2010 to 69 percent in 2011. For TAKS science and social studies, the overall passing percentage increased from 45 to 48 percent and from 75 to 76 percent, respectively. The Spanish TAKS passing rates increased for reading from 51 to 53 percent but declined for math and writing. TAKS-Modified and TAKS-Alt passing rates improved from 2010 for each subject across all grades tested. Detailed data by grade and across grades for the district and schools for each TAKS version are provided in the remaining pages of this report.
