SUBJECT: TITLE I, PART A PRIVATE NONPROFIT SCHOOLS 2015–2016

Nonprofit private schools are eligible for Title I funding (U.S. Department of Education (2006) Ensuring Equitable Services to Private School Children), which is distributed through the local public school district. The Houston Independent School District's (HISD's) Department of External Funding has contracted with Catapult Learning to provide Title I services to eligible private, nonprofit schools within its boundaries. This is a summary of the evaluation of instructional support services provided by Catapult Learning to private, nonprofit schools within HISD's boundaries during the 2015–2016 school year.

HISD's Title I funding supported Catapult Learning services in reading/language arts and mathematics for grades PreK-12 at 34 private nonprofit schools during the 2015–2016 academic year and 22 private, nonprofit schools in summer 2016. (However, one of HISD's public schools, R. Martinez Elementary School, was listed as one of the 22 schools.) Catapult Learning services began early in August 2015 and concluded near the end of June 2016.

The scheduling of services differed greatly from school to school and were provided on two to four days per week. Each session lasted 30–60 minutes. The instructional designs included AchieveReading and AchieveMath, which employed a 6:1 student-to-teacher ratio or similar settings to serve at-risk students who previously had difficulty achieving at grade level and, for the other students, computer-based AchieveReading PlusTech and AchieveMath PlusTech, which incorporated individualized and small group instruction. In addition, professional development for instructional staff; meetings for principals; and progress reports, workshops, and conferences for parents were provided throughout the year. Teacher conferences were conducted throughout the fall semester. Students who received Catapult Learning services took pre- and post-tests using the Catapult Learning Diagnostic Assessment (CLDA) (grades K-12) or the standardized test used by their campus, commonly the lowa Test of Basic Skills (grades 1–8). Catapult Learning conducted an evaluation of its instructional support services. Attached is the complete 2015–2016 evaluation.

Key findings include:

- A total of 644 students in grades PreK-12 received 504 reading and 502 mathematics instructional services (1,006 total services) in the fall and spring of the 2015–2016 school year. In addition, 265 services were provided to 265 PreK-12 students in summer 2016. (R. Martinez Elementary School was included with 31 services.)
- Sixty-two (62) percent of reading students and 62 percent of mathematics students received 20 or more hours of Catapult Learning instruction in 2015–2016, and those with both a preand post-test were included in Catapult Learning's analyses of student achievement.
- In reading, 180 students scored an average 30 Normal Curve Equivalents (NCEs) on CLDA pre-tests and an average 40 NCEs on CLDA post-tests, an NCE gain of 10. On standardized tests in reading, 164 students showed an average gain of seven NCEs, with averages of 22 NCEs on pre-tests and 29 NCEs on post-tests.

- In mathematics, 186 students scored an average 40 NCEs on CLDA pre-tests and an average 59 NCEs on CLDA post-tests, an NCE gain of 19. On standardized tests in mathematics, 164 students showed an average NCE gain of four, with an average 23 NCEs on the pre-test and an average 27 NCEs on the post-test.
- Overall, 63 percent of the students made gains in their reading scores and 76 percent made gains in their mathematics scores on CLDA tests. On standardized tests, 69 percent of students made gains in reading and 54 percent made gains in mathematics.
- Catapult Learning hosted two professional development seminars with 170 total educators (80 at one seminar and 90 at the other). On average, educators rated the overall event a 3.9 on a scale from 1 ("Poor") to 4 ("Excellent").
- Catapult Learning held an annual learning meeting with 53 parents and four parent involvement workshops with a total of 30 parents. From two to ten parents attended each workshop.
- Four times during the school year, progress reports were sent to parents, newsletters and other materials were distributed to parents on a regular basis, and a celebratory event for parents was held once in May.
- Two hundred and fifteen (215) parents of students who received Catapult Learning services completed a survey regarding their views about the program's services. The average of the parents' rating was 3.5 on a scale from 1 ("Strongly Disagree") to 4 ("Strongly Agree") when asked their level of agreement with the statement: "Overall, I was satisfied with the Catapult Learning program."
- On a satisfaction survey given to principals at the end of service delivery, 13 out of more than 30 principals of HISD's Title I private nonprofit schools completed the survey. The average of their ratings was 9.1 on a scale from 1 ("not likely at all") to 10 ("extremely likely") when asked: "How likely is it that you would recommend Catapult Learning to another principal or colleague?"

Description of Services

Instruction Services: AchieveReading & AchieveMath

Reading and Math services were provided to thirty-four schools in the Houston Independent School District. These services were provided according to the following instructional designs:

AchieveReading

- Designed for at-risk students who have difficulty achieving at grade level in reading.
- Delivered in a 6:1 student-to-teacher ratio or similar setting.
- Draws upon key research-based features of effective reading instruction.

AchieveReading teachers create a comfortable, supportive learning environment by helping students use existing knowledge to understand new concepts. Techniques such as providing immediate feedback, aligning texts to student ability levels, scaffolding instruction, and encouraging critical thinking skills increase students' self-confidence and motivation to read.

AchieveReading PlusTech

- Incorporates on-line learning into Small Group and Individualized programs.
- Allows for twice the number of children in the Catapult Learning classroom without sacrificing the teacher's ability to individualize instruction.

AchieveReading PlusTech enables children to receive computer-based, individualized reading instruction that reinforces taught concepts. While students work in a small group with the teacher, additional students are seated at computers and supported by a lab assistant as they work through online lessons.

AchieveMath

- Designed as an intervention for at-risk students who have difficulty achieving at gradelevel in math.
- Delivered in a 6:1 student-to-teacher ratio or similar setting.
- Correlated to NCTM Standards, and draws upon findings of the National Research Council and the National Math Panel.

AchieveMath Small Group provides systematic and explicit instruction to improve students' math skills and confidence, and to assist students in applying newly learned skills in the classroom. Teachers introduce concepts with concrete manipulatives followed by pictorial representations and algorithms. Math skills are presented sequentially within and across grade levels.

AchieveMath PlusTech

- Incorporates on-line learning into Small Group and Individualized programs.
- Allows for twice the number of children in the Catapult classroom without sacrificing instructional fidelity.

AchieveMath PlusTech enables children to receive computer-based, individualized math instruction that reinforces taught concepts. While students work in a small group with the teacher, additional students are seated at computers and supported by a lab assistant as they work through online lessons.

Catapult Learning provided:

- 24 services in AchieveReading
- 480 services in AchieveReading PlusTech
- 27 services in AchieveMath
- 475 services in AchieveMath PlusTech

Services were provided 2-4 days a week based on the needs of the students, teacher itineraries, the request of the building principals and district approval. The length of each session was approximately 30-60 minutes.

Curriculum

Catapult Learning's instructional curricula are systematic, intensive, and explicit and are built on the critical components of effective programs, as reviewed in current research, including the National Reading Panel and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Core program materials include:

- Proprietary Assessments
- Highly Respected Trade and Content Area Anthologies (Reading)
- Highly Structured Math Lessons
- Manipulatives (Math)
- Student Resource Books
- Teacher Lesson Manuals

Achievement Results

Catapult Learning measures student performance by comparing pretest and posttest scores on standardized achievement tests for enrolled students meeting the following criteria: 1) enrolled in the program for 20 or more sessions and 2) matched pretest and posttest scores:

Tost wood	Cycle of testing Grades		Number of students tested
Test used	Cycle of testing	tested	Reading	Math
CLDA	Fall—Spring	K—12	180	186
Standardized Test	Spring—Spring	1—8	164	164

NCE Procedure CLDA Testing

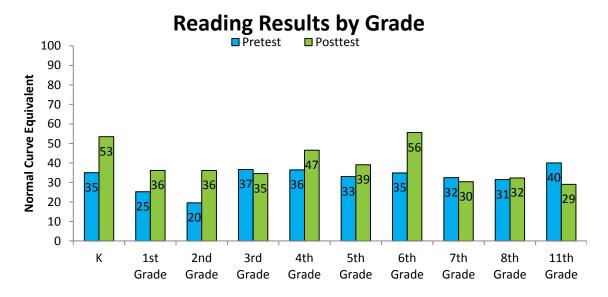

Individual test scores were reported as Normal Curve Equivalent (NCE) scores to determine an average score for the program. To best demonstrate program effectiveness, pretest and posttest scores are reported according to fall normative scores.

Results

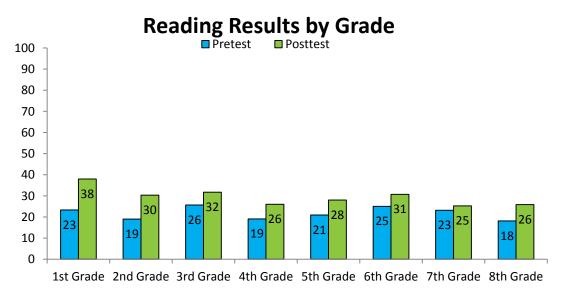

Reading CLDA

In reading (n=180), students moved from scoring an average of 30 points on the pretest to 40 points on the posttest. The difference between the average pre- and post-test scores in reading was 10 NCE points. A t-test of statistical significance indicated that the difference was statistically significant (p<0.001).

Reading Standardized Test

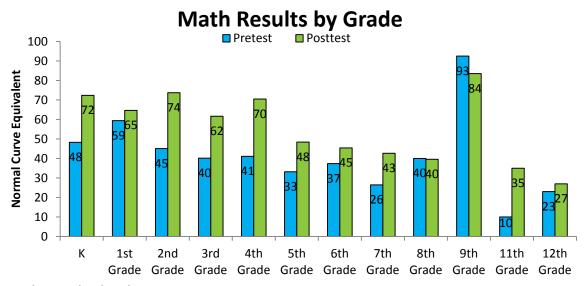

In reading (n=164), students moved from scoring an average of 22 points on the pretest to 29 points on the posttest. The difference between the average pre- and post-test scores in reading was 7 points. A t-test of statistical significance indicated that the difference was statistically significant (p<0.001).

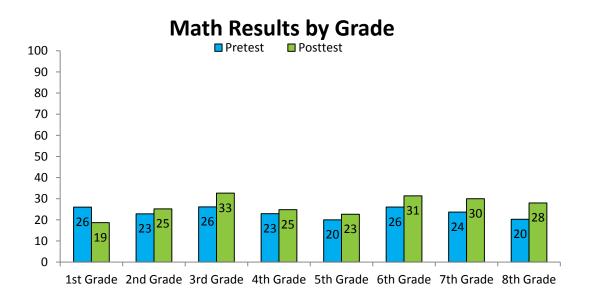

Math CLDA

In math (n=186), students moved from scoring an average of 40 points on the pretest to 59 points on the posttest. The difference between the average pre- and post-test scores in math was 18.7 NCE points. A t-test of statistical significance indicated that the difference was statistically significant (p<0.001).

Math Standardized Test

In math (n=164), students moved from scoring an average of 23 points on the pretest to 27 points on the posttest. The difference between the average pre- and post-test scores in math was 4 points. A t-test of statistical significance indicated that the difference was statistically significant (p<0.001).

What is the primary reason for the score you just gave us?

- Catapult has a well structured system which help students who qualify receive services.
- Excellent focus on instruction for specific student needs! Excellent quality in communication with adults, too! Computer tutoring login delays and Catapult turnover keep my rating from being a 10, but 9 is still "A" work!
- Great team to partner with.
- I am happy with the program and service.
- I appreciate the time and consideration we receive from everyone at Catapult. The programs are always well organized and well-suited to the needs of our teachers and students.
- My main contact for Catapult is Meridith Banks. Meridith always finds an answer but if I talk to another individual they do not always have the answer.
- Open communication, relationships and student driven.
- Quick responses
- The AIM Training was outstanding!
- The promptness and great customer service that Catapult provides.

- This year we had difficulty with professionalism by the tutor assigned, however I am hopeful next year will be better.
- Very pleased with services.
- We think the program is very beneficial to our students. However, we feel that the testing at the start is excessive for the amount of time that we have to spend with students.

THE HELPFUL PARENT: Building healthy bodies and healthy minds

In November we celebrate the first Thanksgiving. When we think of the thanksgiving holiday we naturally think of food. Just as the pilgrims gave thanks for the foods that nourished them, we think about food and what we can do to encourage our children to make the healthy food choices that will grow strong bodies and minds. Here are some ideas!

- 1. Be a good example. What you do can mean more than what you say. Your child learns from you about how and what to eat. Eat meals with your child whenever possible.
- 2. When cooking dinner, always make sure to have one item that your child likes and will eat. Also, cook a limited amount of the starch item and cook extra servings of fruit and vegetables to encourage a second helping.
- 3. Make healthy snacks available. If you stock the kitchen exclusively with healthy treats, children will eat them. As your children grow, stock good snacks in cabinets and shelves that they can reach without your help. Make sure you're prepared with nutritious snacks whether you're driving the carpool or going to soccer practice. Good choices include sliced apples, carrot sticks, whole grain crackers, light popcorn, raisins and water bottles.
- 4. Don't give up on making healthy meals. Studies show that most children need multiple exposures (between 5 and 10) to try new foods. Also, to help a picky eater or rebellious teen feel more in control of their food choices and therefore be more likely to eat the healthy meals you serve, pose food questions as an option. For example, ask "Which would you prefer at dinner: cucumbers or tomatoes?" instead of "Do you want tomatoes as a dinner side dish?"

KID'S COOKING CORNER

In keeping with our Thanksgiving/Food theme, here is a healthy and tasty thanksgiving side dish your children can prepare with your supervision.

Maple Glazed Carrots

Ingredients

- 2 cups miniature carrots
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- · 3 tablespoons maple syrup
- 1 pinch nutmeg

Instructions

- 1. Pour orange juice into a 4-cup microwave safe dish.
- 2. Heat 1 minute on high. Add the carrots.
- 3. Stir to coat the carrots with the orange juice.
- 4. Cover and microwave 8 to 9 minutes on high.
- 5. Stir again, and then add the remaining ingredients.
- 6. Microwave uncovered 2 minutes on high.
- 7. Stir and check for doneness.

 Cook another minute on high if needed.

POETRY CORNER

Reciting poetry is a great way for children to learn and appreciate the beauty of language. Thanksgiving dinner provides a great opportunity for children to share this pleasure with family and friends. Here is a short but lovely verse that expresses the essence of Thanksgiving.

Be Thankful

Be thankful for home Be thankful for food Be thankful for birds that fly

Be thankful for sleep
Be thankful for flowers
Be thankful for clouds in the sky.

Be thankful for friends
Be thankful for rain
And the rainbows that follow close by.

Anonymous

In this box, write a poem of four lines to say what you are thankful for. Try to make the last word on Lines 1 and 3 rhyme, and the last word on Lines 2 and 4 rhyme!

MATH ACTIVITIES

How much turkey do people eat?

Your children can use the internet to research how much turkey is consumed each year worldwide. Children can graph the data they find on a bar graph by country, analyze the results, and discuss their conclusions with you. This is a fun activity to complete for Thanksgiving. Grade Levels: 4 – 8

Popcorn and Cranberry Patterns

For younger children, provide a large plastic needle and heavyweight thread to string popcorn and cranberries in a pattern. Hang the strings outdoors in trees for birds to eat.

How Big is the Turkey?

Have your child help you calculate the size of the turkey you should buy if there are 10 people coming for dinner and each person will eat approximately a pound and a half of turkey.

EL 15 DE FEBRERO, DÍA DE LOS PRESIDENTES

George Washington fue el primer presidente de Estados Unidos. El día de su cumpleaños, el 22 de febrero, se convirtió en un día de conmemoración porque fue una figura importante en la historia de Estados Unidos. También se recordaba a Abraham Lincoln el 12 de febrero de cada año. Hoy en día, debido a la Ley de Uniformidad de Lunes Feriados (Uniform Monday Holiday Act) de 1971, se tomó la decisión de recordar a todos los presidentes el Día de los Presidentes, el tercer lunes de febrero.

¡2016 ES AÑO BISIESTO!

El año 2016 será un "año bisiesto", que agrega un día más al mes más corto que es febrero. Un año bisiesto ocurre cada 4 años. En lugar de 365 días, en 2016 tendremos 366 días. La Tierra tarda 365 días, 5 horas, 48 minutos y 46 segundos en orbitar alrededor del sol. Para que nuestro calendario coincida con las rotaciones de la Tierra alrededor del sol, cada 4 años, se le agrega un día más al mes más corto del año.

Los próximos años bisiestos serán 2020, 2024 y 2028. En el párrafo anterior, hay algunas palabras interesantes. ¿Dónde se puede encontrar más información acerca de las palabras subrayadas?

Consulta el calendario de febrero. Busca el 29 de febrero, el día extra del mes. ¿Qué vas a hacer ese día?

PADRES SENSATOS: Comunicación: su hijo y la escuela

Mantener una comunicación abierta entre su hijo y usted, y el maestro de su hijo y usted es la clave del éxito para todos. ¿Qué puede hacer como padre?

- Conocer las políticas sobre asistencia y tareas de la escuela y del aula
- · Controlar y revisar la tarea todas las noches
- Interesarse de forma activa por la experiencia de su hijo en la escuela preguntándole todos los días cómo estuvo su día, qué cosas nuevas aprendió y qué desafíos tuvo
- Si las calificaciones de su hijo están en Internet, contrólelas
- Participe en las reuniones de padres

COPOS DE NIEVE

Los copos de nieve vienen en muchas formas y tamaños. Los copos de nieve son cristales de hielo congelados que caen a través de la atmósfera de la tierra. Aparentan ser de color blanco a pesar de que son de hielo transparente. En algunas partes de Estados Unidos que tienen un clima muy frío, es posible que caigan copos de nieve. La temperatura exterior determina si las gotas de agua caerán en forma de lluvia o de nieve. Se han escrito muchos libros sobre la nieve, los copos de nieve y el invierno. Éstos son solo algunos de ellos:
