Faculty & Staff,

As we prepare to endure more consistent cooler weather conditions, we will make an adjustment to our daily standard of dress expectation as it relates to permitting students and staff to wear clothing with hoods into the building. Effective December 1, 2022, through March 3, 2023, we will temporarily modify our campuswide expectations however, by keeping safety as our top priority, students or guest may not wear hoods covering their heads while in the building. A formal notification about this change will be sent to all students, parents, and campus guest.

Additionally, I am asking each staff member to please professionally reiterate our campus safety expectation that students and guest are not permitted to wear hoods in the building. In the same manner, teachers, please continue to uphold the integrity of our instructional periods by ensuring that the same expectations of no hoods are to be worn in the classrooms while under your tutelage for instruction.

Thank you for what you genuinely do for our students on a daily basis as we continue to keep safety a top priority while improving student success through higher levels of academic achievement.
