Character Ed: COURAGE

Our BIG WORD for the month of August is COURAGE; being brave enough to do what you should, even when you are afraid.

Beginning a new year with new teacher, new friends, new environment and lots of new experiences can come with many different feelings; from extreme excitement to fear. We want to empower our owls to have courage, be brave and take one step at a time! Starting school can also be tough for parents- your little baby is growing up and time goes by so fast...Parents, be brave and model courage for your little one! We can do this !! Let's have a great year Alcott !! Here are a couple of stories that you can share with your child about COURAGE!
