

Dear Parent or Guardian,

Houston Independent School District has access to Renzulli Learning, an Internet-based educational tool that provides fun, engaging, and meaningful activities that are tailored to meet your child's individual interests and needs. Renzulli Learning makes sure that your child gets the exact educational resources he or she needs, exactly when he or she needs them.

What can my child do with Renzulli Learning?

The Renzulli Learning process begins when your child completes his or her Renzulli Profiler™ assessment, which uncovers your child's top three interests, top three learning styles, and top three expression styles. Then, based on your child's Renzulli Profiler results and grade level, Renzulli Learning narrows down its database of more than 50,000 enrichment activities to the 1,500–3,000 enrichment activities that best match how your child learns.

A small selection of the thousands of possibilities includes:

- Complete online activities — Students can calculate their weight on other planets, help Lewis and Clark explore the West, design one-of-a-kind art pieces, and much more.
- Take a virtual field trip — This could be a 3-D tour of a cell, an exploration of the Great Wall of China, an excavation for dinosaur bones, or a virtual journey through our solar system.
- Prepare for a field trip — Students can gather information about museums, zoos, and art galleries.
- Be inspired — Thousands of engaging enrichment activities cultivate your child's creative expression and real-world critical-thinking and problem-solving abilities.
- Read e-books — We have thousands of literature selections that students can read online for free.
- Research and complete projects — Find resources for just about any task you can imagine, including researching the U.S. and other countries, becoming familiar with famous people, and completing science fair projects aligned to your child's interests and needs.
- Find summer programs — Renzulli Learning provides information about summer programs that can keep your child excited, busy, and engaged in learning over the summer vacation.
- Enter contests and competitions — Renzulli Learning provides students with information for local, national, and global contests and competitions to which they can submit their work for awards and scholarships.
