Unit Overview
This unit will establish the routines and practices that will help students develop their listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. The First 25 Days Launch will be used during the Spanish Language Arts class to set the foundation for guided reading routines and practices. Apply these guided reading routines during the days assigned to guided reading in the ESL/ELD Block. Scholars will consume a variety of fictional texts with special emphasis on realistic fiction (i.e., stories about imaginary people who could exist and events that could happen in real life) to cultivate an in-depth understanding of this genre. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words, and identifying, using, and explaining the meaning of antonyms, synonyms, idioms, homographs, and homophones in a text. Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Scholars will describe the main character’s internal and external traits, describe and understand the plot elements (e.g., main events, conflict-resolution), and describe the importance of the setting. Scholars will identify the use of first- or third-person in the text. Students will respond to text by describing personal connections, retelling, and paraphrasing while maintaining meaning and logical order, demonstrating understanding of texts, and using text evidence to support their response. Scholars will compose stories using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice and edit using conventions, such as sentences with subject-verb agreement, verb tense, and nouns.

Unit Overview

Continue applying the guided reading routines that are being introduced during the Spanish Language Arts class with the First 25 Days Launch in the ESL/ELD Block. Scholars will consume a variety of biographies (i.e., stories of a real person’s life, written by another person) and autobiographies (i.e., stories of a real person’s life, written by that person) to cultivate an in-depth understanding of this genre. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types, words with prefixes and inflectional endings, and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words, and identifying, using, and explaining the meaning of words with affixes. Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Scholars will discuss topics and determine theme using text evidence (with adult assistance), describe the main character’s internal and external traits, describe and understand the plot elements (e.g., main events, conflict-resolution), and demonstrate knowledge of distinguishing characteristics of children’s literature. Scholars will identify the use of first- or third-person in the text. Students will respond to text describing personal connections, retelling and paraphrasing while maintaining meaning and logical order, and using text evidence to support their response. Scholars will compose stories using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice and edit using conventions, such as nouns and adjectives.

Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Scholars will determine the theme using text evidence, describe the main character’s internal and external traits, describe and understand the plot elements (e.g., main events, conflict-resolution), and describe the importance of the setting. Scholars will discuss the use of descriptive, literal, and figurative language. Students will respond to text describing personal connections, retelling and paraphrasing while maintaining meaning and logical order, demonstrating understanding of texts, and using text evidence to support their response. Scholars will compose stories using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice and edit using conventions, such as pronouns (subjective, objective, and possessive) and adjectives (including articles).

Unit 6: Literary Text (Poetry)

Unit Overview: Scholars will consume a variety of poetry (i.e., the arrangement of words in lines that have rhythm, or a regularly repeated accent, and often rhyme) to cultivate an in-depth understanding of this genre. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types, words with prefixes and inflectional endings, and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words and using print or digital resources to determine the meaning and pronunciation of unknown words. Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Students will explain the visual patterns and structures in a variety of poems and discuss the use of descriptive, literal, and figurative language. Students will respond to text describing personal connections, interacting with poems in a meaning way (illustrating), demonstrating understanding of poem, and using text evidence to support their response. Scholars will compose poems using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice, and editing using conventions, such as verb tenses, adverbs (time and place), and prepositions and prepositional phrases.

Unit 7: Traditional Literature

Unit Overview: Scholars will consume a variety of traditional children's literature (e.g., fables, folktales, fables, and fairy-tales) to cultivate an in-depth understanding of this genre. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types, words with prefixes and inflectional endings, abbreviations, and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words and identifying the meaning of and using words with affixes.

Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Scholars will determine the theme using text evidence (with adult assistance), describe the main character's internal and external traits, describe and understand the plot elements (e.g., main events, conflict-resolution), and describe the importance of the setting. Scholars will discuss the use of descriptive, literal, and figurative language. Students will respond to text describing personal connections, retelling and paraphrasing while maintaining meaning and logical order, demonstrating understanding of texts, and using text evidence to support their response.

Scholars will compose letters and stories using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice and edit using conventions, such as prepositions/prepositional phrases and time adverbs.

- ELPS 4.G Demonstrate comprehension of increasingly complex English by participating in shared reading, retelling or summarizing material, responding to questions, and taking notes commensurate with content area and grade level needs.
- ELPS 5.B Write using newly acquired basic vocabulary and content-based grade-level vocabulary.

Strand 6: Composition—Writing Process and Genres
- ELPS 5.D Edit writing for standard grammar and usage, including subject-verb agreement, pronoun agreement, and appropriate verb tenses commensurate with grade-level expectations as more English is acquired.
- ELPS 5.E Employ increasingly complex grammatical structures in content area writing commensurate with grade-level expectations.
- ELPS 5.F Write using a variety of grade-appropriate sentence lengths, patterns, and connecting words to combine phrases, clauses, and sentences in increasingly accurate ways as more English is acquired.
- ELPS 5.G Narrate, describe, and explain with increasing specificity and detail to fulfill content area writing needs as more English is acquired.
Unit Overview: Scholars will consume a variety of informational and procedural texts to cultivate an in-depth understanding of these genres. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words and identifying the meaning of and using words with affixes. Students will use metacognitive skills to develop and deepen comprehension through the strategy of Book, Head, Heart (Beers and Probst). Students will discuss topics, recognize the characteristics and structures of informational text (e.g., central idea with supporting evidence, organizational patterns, text, and graphic features), discuss the author’s purpose and how the author’s use of print and graphic features help achieve his/her purpose. Students will respond to text describing personal connections, writing brief comments that demonstrate understanding, and using text evidence to support their response. Scholars will compose informational and procedural texts using genre characteristics and craft learned from mentor texts with the Notice and Name (Wood Ray) strategy. Students will revise to improve sentence structure and word choice and edit using conventions, such as complete sentences with subject-verb agreement, pronouns (subjective, objective, and possessive), prepositions/prepositional phrases, and end punctuation.

Unit 11: Informational and Persuasive Text

Unit Overview: Scholars will consume a variety of informational and persuasive texts to cultivate an in-depth understanding of these genres. Scholars are expected to decode and spell multisyllabic words with a variety of syllable types, contractions and abbreviations, and high-frequency words. Students will develop their vocabulary by using context to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words, and identifying, using, and explaining the meaning of words with affixes.
