- Call to Order

The meeting was called to attention promptly at 5:30 p.m. by Principal Gregoire, who greeted the committee with New Year Salutations and campus celebrations. The principal briefly went over goals and objectives for the spring semester, emphasizing that the spring semester is where the bulk of accountability takes place and is the busiest time of the school year. This was the transition into understanding the TES system.

The principal presented the TES presentation, providing background and context for the NES system and the growth it has seen. Principal Gregoire talked through community concerns and went into how the data is used and how it informs both real-time instruction and planning for the following school year (campus action plan).

Business partners Tanisha Manning and Joseph Roquemore had concerns about testing and its effects on students. Principal Gregoire offered insight on the campus focus on SEL for both students and teachers to create a supportive classroom for both parties to succeed on the testing requirement. Assistant Principal Jackson further explained the initiative within CTE to ensure that students are ready for post-secondary plans and that most reputable employment requires testing.

Principal Gregoire then had the committee vote. The committee voted for option A.
