Character Ed: COURAGE

Our BIG WORD for the month of August is COURAGE; being brave enough to do what you should, even when you are afraid. Starting a new year with new teacher, new friends, new environment and lots of new experiences can come with many different feelings; from extreme excitement to fear. We want to empower our owls to have courage, be brave and take one step at a time! Starting school can also be tough for parents— your little baby is growing up and time goes by so fast...Parents, be brave and model courage for your little one! We can do this !! Let's have a great year Alcott !! Here are a couple of stories that you can share with your child about COURAGE!
