SUBJECT: 2012 TAKS GRADE 10 AND EXIT-LEVEL RESULTS

The grade 10 and exit-level TAKS results for 2012 have arrived. The State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness, or STAAR, replaced the TAKS program in spring 2012 at grades 3–8, and for first-time 9th graders TAKS tests are replaced with twelve STAAR end-of-course (EOC) assessments. The TAKS program is still the graduation requirement for students who entered high school prior to the 2011–2012 school year. This memo presents 2010–2011 and 2011–2012 TAKS results for all subjects for the district and state, by student groups, and at the campus level. In addition, figures depicting five-year trends for percent passing and commended by grade level are included.

Table 1 shows the percent passing at the state standard, the percent commended, and the average scale score for spring 2012 and 2011 for the district and state. State results have not been released at present.

Some of this year's highlights are as follows.

- The percent passing increased for grade 10 in all subjects and for all tests taken from 2011 to 2012. The tenth grade commended rate increased or stayed the same for all subjects except for social studies over the same time period.
- The percent passing increased for grade 11 in math, science, and for all tests taken from 2011 to 2012. The commended rate for juniors increased for all subjects and for all tests taken.

Table 2 shows the percent passing at the state standard, the percent commended, and the average scale score for spring 2012 and 2011 for the district and state on the TAKS-Modified. The TAKS-Alt was not given in spring of 2012 because it was replaced by the STAAR-Alt.

- The percent passing stayed the same or increased for both grades and all subjects except for 11th grade all tests taken from 2011 to 2012 on the TAKS-Modified. The average scale score increased for all subjects and both grade levels from 2011 to 2012, except for 10th grade math.

- The percent passing on the tenth grade TAKS increased from 2011 to 2012 for the all students and the economically disadvantaged student groups in all subjects and on all tests taken. From 2011 to 2012, students in the White and Asian student groups increased the percentage meeting the standard in one subject; African American students increased the percent passing in two subjects and on all tests taken; and Hispanic students increased the percent passing in three subjects and on all tests taken.
- The economically disadvantaged student group increased the percent commended from 2011 to 2012 by at least three percentage points in all subjects. African American and Hispanic students increased the percent commended in two subjects, and students in the White and Asian student groups increased the percent commended in one subject from 2011 to 2012.

The percent commended on the exit-level TAKS increased or remained the same from 2011 to 2012 for the all students, African American, Hispanic, White, and the economically disadvantaged student groups in all subjects and on all tests taken. From 2011 to 2012, students in the economically disadvantaged student group increased the percent reaching commended status by 6 percentage points in English/language arts and science and by 12 percentage points in math and 15 percentage points in social studies.

Appendix A contains campus tables that provide the average scale score, percent passing, and percent commended. Should you have further questions, please contact my office or Carla Stevens in the Department of Research and Accountability at 713-556-6700.
