Definitions and Instructions for Completing Disclosure of Interest Report

- In answering these questions, you are considered to have done business or to have had an interest if a person in the first degree by consanguinity (blood) or affinity (marriage) did business or had any interest. (These relatives include the trustee's father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, husband, wife, children, and children's spouses.)
- In answering these questions, if you did any business, but used the name of a member of your family or another person instead of your own name, you should disclose the transaction.
